Greetings and salutations,

Thanks to you and your brother for your hospitality. I had a delightful time. We'll have to do that again some time--perhaps an autumnal equinox picnic. Would the leaves be changing by that time, or is it early yet?

What's the name of the park we went to? I've been wanting to look it up on my Parks of Penna map, but I've forgotten the name.

Say hello to your chickens and cows for me.

Cheers,

Beth

Beth:

Glad you enjoyed yourself. I, too, had a good time.

Yes, let's think about an autumnal equinox outing. Merli-Sarnoski is the name of the park. It's a county park, located in Lackawanna County.

Very soon (if not already) the Farmers' Market will be open in Scranton. It's a good place to have lunch. We'll have to make an outing there.

See ya,

Robert

Hello.

I did not call you last night. The Carbondale branch is open only until 5:00 on Fridays and the Albright only until 5:30. We would need more time than that. We'll have to scrap the idea of meeting after I'm done with work and shoot for a Saturday meeting. For me, 7/15 or any Saturday after that will be OK.

Meanwhile, if you want, you can describe to me anything you want done to the Web site, e-mail to me any files you want to use, and I can do the uploading from work or from home.

By the way, I think I discovered what went wrong with the revision I had e-mailed you. It seems you renamed the file before you uploaded it to Crosswinds. Thus, District2.htm (June 30) was still existing in your folder.

After I mail this, I'll upload a revised (July 7) version of the Web page to replace District2.htm and will delete the other file (American Poultry Association.htm) you had uploaded yesterday.

Bye, now.

Thanks for discovering that the internal links on my District 2 page didn't work. I don't think I have ever used them when I am on the page. As you know, I need all the help I can get when it comes to cybermatters.

I copied the entire District 2 text from your e-mail and then saved it as an htm file and then uploaded it to the Internet. For some peculiar reason, the internal links are still not working.

Perhaps you can make it work if you upload the files. My crosswinds user name is srobertpowell and my password is EAGardne

I also need help with uploading some of the visual poultry materials that you created for me. When could I meet you at the Albright Library (if such file manipulation could be done there) or at some other cybersite? Tomorrow (7/7) or Monday (7/10) when you get out of work? Sometime on Saturday (7/8)? Later on next week?

Thanks for your help in establishing order in District2.htm. I downloaded the complete webpage and saved it as District2.htm and then made some additions/corrections and then uploaded it and everything went smoothly.

The green bullets and the boxed text and the other refinements that you put in place in District2.htm are very nice. Thank you very much.

Just for the record, I decided to print out a copy of the complete webpage (all 19 pages). On the paper printout, a curious header appeared:

July 10, 1998 Page 1 of 19 (etc.)

The "July 10, 1998" does not appear on the screen but it shows up in the printout. Is there a way to make that date go away? I'm afraid that someone who prints out the webpage might think that that was the last time that the page was updated. The fact that it says "Page 1 of 19," etc. is good.

I see all the changes on the Crosswinds homepage. I didn't have time to do much exploring there today, but I will very soon.

Robert

Cyberthanks

Everyone needs an editor. Without editors, in fact, the world would be a real mess. I am fortunate to have a friend who is a first-class print- and cybereditor. His name is Paul Warner. For five years, he and I worked as editors in the print media in Product Development at Harcourt Learning Direct (formerly ICS Learning Systems) in Scranton, PA. Paul knows more about the Internet and the vast cyberworld out there than anyone I know. Without Paul's guidance, direction, and vast reserves of patience, this webpage would not exist—and it would not have the clarity of form and content that it now has. Thank you, Paul, for focusing your keen editorial and technical eye upon this chicken scratch.

I wonder when Paul will discover this acknowledgement on the Distrust 2 webpage.

7/9/00 — Started as a visit to the Seamans farm in Elkdale, with the object of paying Alain &
Clyde if necessary for the work they have done in the Cemetery in recent weeks. No one home at the Seamans farm. So I spent two or three hours checking my record of the inscriptions on the stones in the Elkdale Cemetery. Over the years, I have spent a lot of time in the Cemetery and I believe that I have the best record possible of the inscriptions there. A woman by the name of Hubbard copied down the inscriptions about 25 years ago, but she was careless — I've found many errors in her work. When I get the job done, I'll make a copy.

of my "field notes" and give it to the Suquehanna County Historical Society. It is in Elddale Cemetery that I want to be buried.

Went from Elddale to Valley View Cemetery and checked on Mom's new tombstone — very nice. Shipley & Scatchell did a perfect job. It reads exactly as it should:

[Helen K. Russell Powell
June 29, 1913 — October 29, 1999]

Total cost: $480.00

I am very pleased. Seeing Mom's tombstone in place made her life seem very much like a closed book. She was a good record keeper and it would be unacceptable if her tombstone was not correct.

7/10/00 - Spent several hours at the Historical Society today and made good progress in sorting through a lot more "stuff" in Room 303. A couple more sessions therein and the floor will be exposed again. Then things will move quickly; I came across a lot of John's D & H things today and was pleased to find them since they will be the nucleus of the D & H transportation museum that I will establish there in the coming year.

On Wednesday, I will walk with some Wayne County people on the ^{D & H} roadbed through a substantial portion of the South Canaan Loop of the Honesdale Branch of the D & H.

Put up five quarts of "Pickled Cauliflower" this afternoon. Used the recipe on page 37 of the 1987 edition (Edition 31) of the "Ball Blue Book" — The Guide to Home Canning and Freezing. This is one of Mom's cook books and I have just now signed my name under hers on the Table of Contents page. Canning is one of my favorite things to do. I think it has something to do with removing things from time, as it were.

Once something like cauliflower has been properly canned, it is, in principle, removed from time. The Clock starts ticking again when the seal is broken.

Placing things / data of all kinds outside of the temporal structure of empirical reality has been one of my life obsessions.

Hopefully, there will be none.

after several days of not feeling as fully energized as usual, I am once again back to normal. and I must say, it is a good feeling.

Went to Elkdale yesterday afternoon and cut about $\frac{3}{4}$ of the Cemetery. Beautiful summer day. The smell of the freshly cut grass reminded me of early Spring. Later today I will return to Elkdale and complete the job.

On Monday, a couple of the members of Donald's work crew here at the Golf course and I will go to the Elkdale Cemetery with weed wackers and do the trimming in the Cemetery — and complete the job. I have been working on my Elkdale Cemetery papers and in a week or two they should be ready for publication in the microfilm format.

I have been watching a 4-tape video titled Wagner that I am borrowing from Joe Pascoe. What a wonderful experience it is to watch such high velocity artistic energy in action!

It's imperative to be reminded — on a daily basis — that there is a lot more to life than the usual nine-to-five routine.

I have known that fact for about 50 years now. But one has to be reminded of it frequently — very frequently; otherwise one can easily get trapped/cornered by the most prosaic of empirical events. And right now I am listening to a beautiful performance of Berlioz's Symphonie fantastique (Muti; Philadelphia Orchestra).

7/23/00 - p. 3

This music, of course, brings to mind the fact that it was the notion of an "idée fixe" in music that Berlioz introduced that led to Wagner's use of leitmotifs in his stupendous musical oeuvre. How I would like to go to Paris again! I wonder if it will ever be possible to do so? Perhaps in about ten years. I could go with DWP II. We could go to Scotland to golf; Wales; England - and France. DWP II and SRP could do a tour! a visit to Venice would be obligatory - of course.

Yesterday was Russell's birthday. He was born in 1946.

Chants d'auvergne by Marié-Joseph Canteloube de Malaret (1879-1957) - sung by Kiri Te Kanawa: very beautiful. Earth-connected songs from the Auvergne. Until a few minutes ago, I didn't realize that Canteloube was alive in the mid-20th Century. I assumed that he was a late-19th Century composer. But then, like R. Vaughan Williams he went into the field to record "local" music before it all disappeared forever.

The content of the June-July issue of the CPAC Newsletter is all set; copies will be picked up and collated & inserted into the mailing envelopes & mailed - tomorrow. This afternoon I will finish mowing the Elkdale Cemetery.

Very gratifying. I look forward to it. It appears that the only shows that I will be able to show at are Blomberg, Yankee Classic, Virginia (if I go), and Columbus (if I go). I love to show birds — but I love to judge them as well. For the time being, I will have to forego, more or less, the pleasure of showing.

RE: United States Penitentiary - Canaan Township, Pennsylvania
Resolution of Adverse Effects

Dear Mr. Dorworth:

I am the president of the Wayne County Historical Society and am writing you on behalf of the Society's Board of Trustees.

Apparently you still fail to recognize the link in our history that the D&H steam railroad provided and that it was very much the same company that created the gravity railroad and the canal. You fail to understand the importance of tourism to this area and that people who come to hike the trails be they just hikers or railroad buffs or history buffs are not looking for a short cut along a new road by the prison fence.

When we presented you with a list of possible mitigation that we considered more reasonable than the tokens you were offering you asked "Couldn't you do these projects much better and more rapidly with the FBP as partners than on your own?" We answered that if the prison came and disrupted part of our history and trail, we would have to have you as partners to recover from the damage. You indicated that this was possible and asked us to put together more specific requests with associated costs.

You have responded with the same tokenism that you offered in the beginning and obviously had no intention of partnering with anyone or having the prison be a "good citizen" of Wayne County. I can only express our sincere disappointment in your lack of candor and your lack of concern for our history and recreational needs as shown by your empty promises.

We are disappointed that you signed the MOA before the promised discussion. We hope that the Harrisburg meeting will prove fruitful for the people of Wayne County.

Sincerely,

Mr. John Reuther, President
Pioneer American Bank
41 North Main Street
Carbondale, PA 18407

Dear Mr. Reuther:

The portraits of the former presidents and directors of the First National Bank, which are currently on display on the fourth floor of the Pioneer American Bank building in Carbondale, constitute an important visual record in Carbondale's history.

Not only did these presidents and directors play an important role in the history of the First National Bank, many of them, at the same time, were important leaders in the community.

Given the consolidations and mergers that are taking place in the banking world at present, the possibility exists that the bank's collection of portraits of former First National presidents and directors might someday be broken up or removed from the city of Carbondale.

The Carbondale Historical Society has a strong commitment to preserving our local history and making it accessible to the present and all future generations of Carbondalians.

In the event that the bank's collection of portraits of former First National presidents and directors might someday be regarded as redundant in the present banking environment, the Carbondale Historical Society would be

Carbondale Public Library
Meeting of the Board of Directors
June 20, 2000

The regular monthly meeting of the Board of Directors of the Carbondale Public Library took place on June 20, 2000 in the Board Room of the Library. Present were Mesdames Miley, Calabro, Race, Muldoon; Messieurs Pascoe, Matylewicz, Langan, Mattise, Wallis, Staple, Vandenberg, and Powell.

The recording secretary read the minutes of the May 16, 2000 meeting. Two corrections (one regarding the new flag on the Library's flagpole, one regarding the date of the Martha Stewart program at the Library) were called for. With those corrections made, it was regularly moved (Miley) and seconded (Pascoe) that the minutes be approved and place on file. The motion carried.

Several Board members commented on how nice the pictures looked in the Board room and thanked President Langan for his work on the picture project.

Patricia Calabro read the treasurer's report for May 2000. It was regularly moved (Matylewicz) and seconded (Staple) that the report be approved as read and placed on file. The motion carried.

CORRESPONDENCE.

Patricia Calabro read the memo of June 8, 200 from Sally Felix to Jack Foley at LA Bank regarding CD 1409024687 and mortgage payments for the Carbondale Library. The Lackawanna County Library System will liquidate the CD just named ($63,085.41) on its maturity date, June 13, 2000. Those funds will be used to pay nine full months' (July 2000 up to and including March 2001) and one partial month's (April 2001) mortgage on the loan for the Carbondale Public Library. With that payment, the Lackawanna County Library System will have fulfilled its obligation according to the terms of its guaranty of the loan taken out by the Carbondale Public Library for the construction of the new library building. This means that in April 2001, the Carbondale Library will have to start paying the mortgage on the building.

LIBRARY DIRECTOR'S REPORT

Anne reported that staff member Dorothy Peduto had recently had a slight heart attack and that staff member Fran Grecco had her gall bladder out "last Thursday." Anne also reported that Jim Schmidt and his wife, from Waymart, had recently planted flowers in front of the Library building.

COMMUNITY PROGRAMS

The recent Italian/American program at the Library, co-sponsored by UNICO, was well attended and a very nice success for the Library. Every year there will be a community program at the Library about a different ethnic group in the community. Robert Powell's program at the Library on Martha Stewart's visit to the 1997 spring show of the Central Pennsylvania Avian Club will take place on July 12. Kathryn Race will take charge of refreshments and will make Welsh cookies and lemonade for the occasion. Martin Langan will provide a cake.

FINANCE COMMITTEE

The County Library board feels that the Carbondale Library has not done much to raise funds to pay for the new Carbondale building. The County believes that the Carbondale Library should conduct a professional capital fund drive, that we should pay someone to come in and do it. Patricia Calabro: "We should have a special meeting and ask Jack Foley to come and explain where we are with regard to meeting our financial obligations. The County would like to see a plan from the Carbondale Library on where we are going with regard to funding. If we plan to go out after big money, we had better do it in the next six months, because Interboro is going to start looking for funding."

A discussion took place on how much money would be required to name the building in honor of or in memory of someone. The sum of $500,000 was mentioned. Community Room, $100,000; children's room, $150,000; reference room $250,000.

555 fund-raising letters were recently sent out; 83 replies have been received to date, with a total of $9,685.00 pledged or received.

Mystery Dinner: to take place on September 15 at Durfee Parish Hall. The play is called "Reading Aunt Louise's Will"; cost of the script, $255. It was mentioned that it would be good if we could get Carl Kennedy and Dr. Peter Pettinato involved in the mystery dinner.

FRIENDS OF THE LIBRARY

The cost of the round trip bus trip to Cooperstown on September 30 is $35 (which includes round trip transportation and tour admissions). There are 45 seats on the bus. There is a lunch option: $7.95 for chicken and biscuits; $8.95 for beef burgundy. The bus will leave from the Carbondale Area High School parking lot.

On June 8, Molly Philbin from the SCOLA office in Scranton came to a Friends meeting at the Library and spoke about adult reading programs.

With no further business to conduct, the meeting was adjourned at 8:45 P.M.

S. Robert Powell
Recording Secretary

Bill Wallis showed the Board a flyer that he had recently received from the magazine Aviation History. Bill Wallis: "If you return this survey form, they will send you a free issue of the magazine. In addition, you can get copies of these 14 articles that were published in Aviation History. One of the articles is about Jack Race. It's called "The Flight that Surrendered the Reich"—A modest young American pilot, Jack Race, flew Colonel General Alfred Jodl from Luneburg to Reims on May 6, 1945, where Jodl surrendered the fragmented remains of the Third Reich to the Allies." Kathryn Race (Mrs. Jack Race) is a member of the Board of Directors of the Carbondale Public Library.

PRELIMINARIES

The regular monthly meeting of the Board of Directors of the Carbondale Public Library took place on July 18, 2000 in the Board Room of the Library. It was called to order by President Martin Langan at 7:45 P.M. Present were Mesdames Miley, Calabro, Race, Muldoon, and McNabb; Messieurs Pascoe, Matylewicz, Langan, Mattise, Staple, Vandenberg, Brown, and Powell.

The recording secretary read the minutes of the June 20, 2000 meeting. It was regularly moved (McNabb) and seconded (Pascoe) that the minutes be approved and placed on file. The motion carried.

Patricia Calabro read the treasurer's report for June 2000. It was regularly moved (Staple) and seconded (Pascoe) that the report be approved as read and placed on file. The motion carried.

COMMITTEE REPORTS

Fund Raising Committee

Pat Calabro reported that plans are proceeding apace for the mystery dinner, Reading Aunt Louise's Will, on September 15. We still need a caterer and a name for the group in the play; also a name for the café in the play. With an ad book, we can easily make $1,000. We need a ticket coordinator. We need a publicity person.

Community Programs

Kathryn Race commented that Robert Powell's program at the Library on July 12th, on the Martha Stewart visit, hosted by Robert Powell, to the Central Pennsylvania Avian Club's spring show in May 1997 in Bloomsburg, was an "excellent evening—very enjoyable and very informative." Robert remarked that, speaking as the person who presented the program, it did not trouble him at all that the program was poorly attended, but that, speaking as a member of the Library Board, it troubled him a great deal that 80% of the Library Board members were not present at the program, which was an event sponsored by the Library.

Building Committee

The Committee reported that there is a leak by windows at the second floor level in the entrance hall of the Library building. The Committee recommended that the contractor who built the building, Scartelli, be contacted to find out how to solve the problem.

Friends of the Library

Kathryn Race reported that there are only seven seats left on the bus for the Friends-sponsored trip to Cooperstown on September 30.

OLD BUSINESS

Fund Raising

Jack Foley from the LA Bank and several Board members met with Sally Felix and Anne Muldoon on June 5. The County's last mortgage payment has been made. It will carry us up to February 6, 2001. We have to make the payments beginning on March 6, 2001. We then have a couple of options. We can have the bank re-amortize the loan at that time. The Board decided to put off until January a motion to re-amortize the loan. We currently have enough money in the building fund to make 15 payments—through May 6, 2002. Without any other changes to the loan, we will have to raise $55,092 each year for the next nine years to pay off the loan. Jack Foley gave the Library a list of foundations that we might want to contact for additional contributions.

Father Matylewicz, Corrine McNabb, and Joseph Pascoe will meet and determine "realistic goals" for financial amounts to be assigned to portions or all of the Library building in the fund raising initiative, e.g., with a $100,000 donation, the donor can have the Children's Library named as he chooses, etc.

Leave-a-Legacy

Corrine McNabb will have her son hand-stamp the Library's correct phone number on the back to the several thousand Leave-a-Legacy mailing pieces that have been ready for mailing for over a year now. Nick Mattise will get a volunteer to help out in the final preparations for this mailing.

Friends Bake Sale

Kathryn Race said that donated baked goods are needed for the Friends' stand at the Carbondale Day celebration at the Train Station on Sunday, August 13.

Noise in the Library

Robert Powell remarked that the various tutoring programs that take place in the public reading rooms of the Library are causing a noise problem and suggested that the tutoring take place in the Community Room. Robert suggested that "Quiet Please" signs be posted throughout the Library. Robert also suggested that a sign giving notice that "gentlemen will remove their hats when in the Library" be posted by the entrance door to the Library. "We have no control over the conduct of Library patrons when they are not in the Library building," Powell remarked, "but when Library patrons are in the Library building, it is within our power to establish behavioral guidelines that must be followed. It's a simple as that. This is not a public park, nor is it a recreation room. It is a library."

Respectfully submitted,

S. Robert Powell
Recording Secretary

Jiffy Lube joins many automobile industry experts in recommending oil changes every 3,000 miles. Otherwise, the recommendations above are based on vehicle manufacturers' recommendations as compiled and reported by Chek-Chart Publications, a nationally recognized provider of vehicle information. Your vehicle may not be equipped with all of the equipment for which a service recommendation is specified above. Your vehicle may have special equipment that requires different maintenance intervals.

"Severe Service" as defined by most automobile manufacturers, consists of operating a vehicle under any of the following conditions:

- Stop-and-go driving
- Idling for extended periods
- Frequent trips less than 10 miles
- Sustained, high speed driving in hot weather
- Driving in dust or sand
- Pulling trailers or heavy loads
- Taxi, police and ambulance-type driving
- Cold weather that prevents full engine warm-up

We are pleased to send you this Social Security Statement to help you understand what Social Security means to you and your family. We encourage you to use it in planning your financial future. As the law requires, we will send you a new Statement showing your updated earnings record and your potential benefits each year. You should receive it about three months before your birthday.

Be sure to read this Statement carefully. If you think there might be a mistake, please let us know. That's important because your benefits will be based on our record of your lifetime earnings. Remember, the future's in your hands when you read your Social Security Statement.

Social Security is for people of all ages...

Social Security is more than a retirement program. It can help you whether you're young or old, male or female, single or with a family. It can provide benefits if you become severely disabled and help support your family when you die. And it's there for you when you retire.

Work to build a secure future...

Social Security is the largest source of income for most elderly Americans and plays a major role in keeping them out of poverty. But Social Security can't do it all. Social Security benefits were not intended to be the only source of income for you and your family when you retire. You'll need to supplement your benefits from a pension, savings or investments. Think of Social Security as a foundation on which to build your financial future.

About Social Security's future...

Will Social Security be there when you retire? Of course it will. But changes will be needed to meet the demands of the times. We're living longer, healthier lives; 76 million "baby boomers" will start retiring in about 2010; and, in about 30 years, there will be nearly twice as many older Americans as there are today.

Social Security now takes in more taxes than it pays out in benefits. The excess funds are credited to Social Security's trust funds, which are expected to grow to over $4 trillion before we need to use them to pay benefits. In 2015, we will begin to pay out more in benefits than we collect in taxes. By 2037, the trust funds will be exhausted and the payroll taxes collected will be enough to pay only about 72 percent of benefits owed. We're working to resolve these issues. For more information about the present and what may lie ahead, call us to ask for a copy of the booklet, The Future of Social Security.

Your Estimated Benefits

To qualify for benefits, you earn "credits" through your work — up to four each year. This year, for example, you earn one credit for each $780 of wages or self-employment income. When you've earned $3,120, you've earned your four credits for the year. Most people need 40 credits, earned over their working lifetime, to receive retirement benefits. For disability and survivors benefits, young people need fewer credits to be eligible.

We checked your records to see whether you have earned enough credits to qualify for benefits. If you haven't earned enough yet to qualify for any type of benefits, we can't give you an estimate now. If you continue to work, we'll give you an estimate when you do qualify.

What we assumed — If you already have enough work credits, we then estimated the amount of your benefits, using your average earnings over your working lifetime. For your credits through 2000 and your earnings up to retirement, we assumed you'll continue to work and make about the same as the latest earnings shown on your record for 1998 or 1999.

We can't provide your actual benefit amount until you apply for benefits. And that amount may differ from the estimates stated below because —

- (1) Your earnings may increase or decrease over the years.
- (2) Your benefit figures shown here are only estimates based on current law, and the laws governing benefit amounts may change because, by 2037, the payroll taxes collected will be enough to pay only about 72 percent of benefits owed.
- (3) Other factors, such as receiving a pension for government work not covered by Social Security, may affect your benefit amount.

Generally, estimates for older workers are more accurate than those for younger workers because they're based on a longer earnings history with fewer uncertainties, such as earnings fluctuations and future law changes.

These estimates are in current dollars. As you receive benefits, they will be adjusted for cost-of-living increases.

▼ Retirement You have earned enough credits to qualify for benefits. At your current earnings rate, if you stop working...
 At age 62, your payment would be about $ 634 a month
 If you continue working until... your full retirement age (66 years), your payment would be about $ 897 a month age 70, your payment would be about $ 1,244 a month

Note: When you continue working beyond your full retirement age, your benefit amount increases because of your additional earnings and the special credits you will receive for delaying your retirement. This increased benefit can be important to you later in your life. It also can increase the future benefit amounts your family and survivors could receive.

▼ Disability You have earned enough credits to qualify for benefits. If you become severely disabled right now...
 Your payment would be about $ 822 a month

▼ Family If you get retirement or disability benefits, your spouse and children may also qualify for benefits.

▼ Survivors You have earned enough credits for your family to receive the following benefits if you die this year.

Total family benefits cannot be more than	$ 1,457 a month
Your child	$ 630 a month
Your spouse who is caring for your child	$ 630 a month
Your spouse who reaches full retirement age	$ 840 a month

Your spouse or minor child may be eligible for a special one-time death benefit of $255.

▼ Medicare You have earned enough credits to qualify for Medicare at age 65. Even if you do not retire at age 65, be sure to contact Social Security three months before your 65th birthday to enroll in Medicare.

We based your benefit estimates on these facts:

Your name Silas R. Powell
 Your date of birth December 12, 1943
 Your estimated taxable earnings per year after 2000 $24,012
 Your Social Security number 198-34-0586

Help Us Keep Your Earnings Record Accurate

You, your employer and Social Security share responsibility for the accuracy of your earnings record. From the first year you began working, we recorded your reported earnings under your name and Social Security number. Since then, we have updated your record each time your employer (or you, if you're self-employed) reported your earnings.

Remember, it's your earnings — not the amount of taxes you paid or the number of credits you have — that determine your benefit amount. When we figure that amount, we base it on your average earnings over your lifetime. If our records are wrong, you may not receive all the benefits to which you are entitled.

▼ Review this chart carefully using your own documents (pay stubs, W-2 forms and tax returns) to make sure our information is correct.

▼ Make sure we have recorded every year you worked.

▼ Check the earnings to see if they are correct.

You are the only person who can look at the earnings chart and know whether it is complete. If you worked for more than one employer during the year, or if you had both earnings and self-employment income, we combined your earnings for that year.

▼ Remember, there is a limit on the amount of earnings on which you pay Social Security taxes each year. This limit usually increases yearly. Only the maximum amount that was taxable will appear on the chart. (For Medicare taxes, the maximum earnings amount began rising in 1991. Since 1994, all of your earnings are taxed for Medicare.)

▼ Act right away if any of your earnings are shown incorrectly. Call us at 1-800-772-1213. If possible, have your W-2 or tax return for those years available. (If you live outside the U.S., follow the directions at the bottom of page 4.)

Some Facts About Social Security

About Social Security and Medicare...

Social Security pays retirement, disability, family and survivors benefits. Medicare, a separate program run by the Health Care Financing Administration, helps pay for inpatient hospital care, nursing care, doctors' fees, and other medical services and supplies to people over 65 or to people who have received Social Security disability benefits for two years. Your Social Security covered earnings qualify you for both programs.

Here are some facts about Social Security's benefits:

- ▼ Retirement — If you were born before 1938, your full retirement age is 65. Because of a 1983 change in the law, the full retirement age will increase gradually to 67 for people born in 1960 and later.

Some people retire before their full retirement age. They can retire as early as age 62 and take their benefits at a reduced rate. Others continue working after their full retirement age. They receive higher benefits because of additional earnings and special credits for delayed retirement.

- ▼ Disability — If you become severely disabled before full retirement age, you can receive disability benefits after six months if you have:

- enough Social Security credits; and
- a physical or mental impairment that's expected to prevent you from doing "substantial" work for a year or more or a condition that's expected to result in death.

- ▼ Family — If you're eligible for disability or retirement benefits, your current or divorced spouse, minor children or adult children disabled before age 22 also may receive benefits. Each may qualify for up to 50 percent of your benefit amount. The total amount depends on how many family members qualify.

- ▼ Survivors — When you die, certain members of your family may be eligible for benefits:

- your spouse age 60 or older (50 or older if disabled, or any age if caring for your children under age 16); and
- your children if unmarried and under age 18, still in school and under age 19, or adult children disabled before age 22.

If you are divorced, your ex-spouse could be eligible for a widow's or widower's benefit on your record when you die.

Receive retirement benefits and still work

You can continue to work and still get retirement benefits. If you are under your full retirement age, there are limits on how much you can earn without losing some or all of your retirement benefits. These limits change each year. When you apply for benefits, we'll tell you what the limits are at that time and whether work would affect your monthly benefits. When you reach your full retirement age, the earnings limits no longer apply.

Before you decide to retire, think about your benefits for the long term. Everyone's situation is different. For example, be sure to consider the advantages and disadvantages of early retirement. If you choose to receive benefits before you reach full retirement age, your benefits will be permanently reduced. However, you'll receive benefits for a longer period of time.

To help you decide when is the best time for you to retire, we offer a free booklet, Social Security — Retirement Benefits (Publication No. 05-10035), that provides specific information about retirement.

There are other free publications that you may find helpful, including:

- ▼ The Future Of Social Security (Publication No. 05-10055) — a discussion of the present and what may lie ahead;
- ▼ Understanding The Benefits (Publication No. 05-10024) — a general explanation of all Social Security benefits;
- ▼ How Your Retirement Benefit Is Figured (Publication No. 05-10070) — an explanation of how you can calculate your benefit;
- ▼ A Pension From Work Not Covered By Social Security (Publication No. 05-10045) — how it affects your Social Security retirement or disability benefits; and
- ▼ Government Pension Offset (Publication No. 05-10007) — a law that affects spouse's or widow(er)'s benefits.

We also have leaflets and factsheets with information about specific topics such as military service, self-employment or foreign employment. You can request Social Security publications by following the instructions in the If you need more information... section below.

The Carbondale Historical Society and Museum has been awarded a TEA-21 grant for $115,000, to establish a D&H Transportation Museum and Research Center in two rooms on the third floor of Carbondale City Hall and Courthouse.

The nucleus of the research and exhibition materials for this D&H research center and museum will be provided by the Carbondale Historical Society, which is also located on the third floor of City Hall, a National Register building.

Construction (new electrical system, plaster walls, and display cases) is expected to begin this October under the direction of S. Robert Powell, president of the Historical Society.

Historical Town Taken Prisoner by Bureau of Prisons

The residents of the borough of Waymart and Canaan Township (Wayne County, PA) are fighting to save their community and its future in a pitched battle with the Federal Bureau of Prisons (BOP).

The battle (two other communities in Pennsylvania—Brush Valley and Phillipsburg—are fighting similar battles with the Bureau of Prisons) is over the BOP's plans to build a maximum-security prison on pristine agricultural lands in this historic community.

In so doing, the BOP will adversely impact not only important extant features of the Delaware and Hudson rail line, the first commercially successful railroad in the United States, that pass through this community but also the agricultural complex that was a key component of the Farview State Hospital (the only remaining example in Pennsylvania of a hospital for the mentally ill that was built according to the Kirkbride model) that is located in this community.

At the same, a Rails-to-Trails link will be permanently destroyed by the footprint of the prison project.

To date, the BOP has not followed legal guidelines established by the National Environmental Policy Act and the National Historic Preservation Act. Several community groups have attempted to consult with the BOP in an effort to avoid, minimize, or mitigate for damages caused by the siting of the prison (which is to be built across the street from the community's elementary school and which will destroy the community's main street), but these groups have not been successful in their efforts to persuade the BOP to construct the proposed prison on an alternate site.

The quality of life and the historic resources of this community will be destroyed forever if the Bureau of Prisons is not persuaded to modify its plans for the siting of this maximum-security facility in the heart of rural small-town America.

The BOP will not recognize that there is significant community opposition to the siting of the proposed prison in the heart of this community. The community needs your help in presenting these facts to a larger audience and in curtailing the out-of-control behavior of the Bureau of Prisons in small-town America.

Hear our call for help!

Hi Robert,

Thanks for working on the 60 mins piece. I am forwarding you a PRISONACT web-page.

Notice the documentary YES IN MY BACKYARD I spoke today with Tracy Huling the producer/writer of the documentary. She is very interested in our story. I forwarded her to the OCC web-site <http://occwaynecounty.webjump.com>

She is going to put our story out to National Media attention, as well as organizing a public screening/discussion for our community. As well work on a documentary featuring the FIGHT coming fro communities against prison explosion. She was fascinated by our story. Also she likes the HISTORICAL TOWN TAKEN PRISONER BY FBOP! Take a look at her stuff. Her knowledge on the topic was refreshing, sincere and she got the research. She will be angleing out documentary strategies for us. Will stay posted, give your fed back.

Dear Mr. Delavan:

The Historical Society is now in the process of establishing a D&H Railroad Research Center and Transportation Museum on the third floor of Carbondale City Hall and Courthouse. In order to do so, we will rely on the expertise, guidance, and skills of many talented people, notably those with hands-on railroad experience, knowledge of museum management, and experience with civic and community organizations. One such person, with talents in all of those areas, is John Buberniak.

Is there a possibility that John might be available for a day or two in September or October, on a pro bono publico basis, to advise and guide our organization during the preliminary phases of this process?

When this D&H Railroad Research Center and Transportation Museum is a reality, we will, of course, publicly acknowledge the names of all those organizations who have made such a research center and museum a possibility, with a special emphasis on those organizations who have donated professional services and materials.

Sincerely,

S. Robert Powell

Thank you for the copy of your D&H Canal Guide for our library. Be assured that we will give it the protection of a work that will be published. Yes, we will have a gift shop and will be pleased to carry your work when published.

We would be pleased to be listed in your list of D&H canal organizations at the end of your D&H Canal Guide. Here is a description of our organization:

Carbondale Historical Society and Museum

Located on the third floor of Carbondale City Hall, the Historical Society has a large quantity of D&H Gravity Railroad artifacts, including many D&H blueprints. The Society also has significant research materials on anthracite mining and railroads, as well as a large collection of birth/death/naturalization records for the city and the surrounding areas. Microfilm copies of Carbondale newspapers from the late 1820s to the present are available at the Carbondale Public Library.

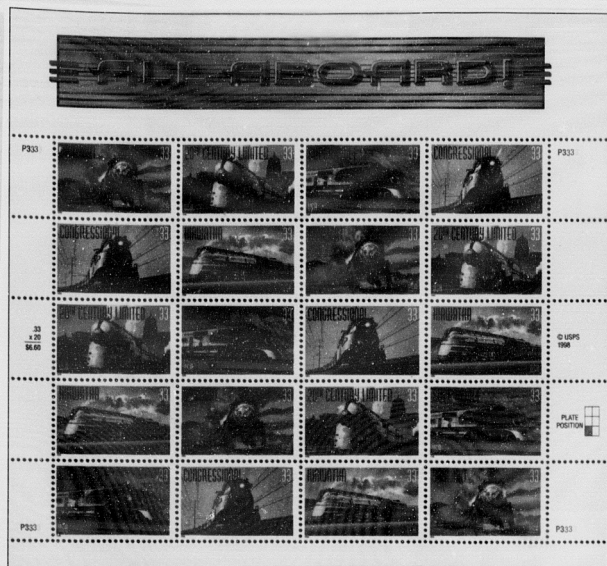

We look forward to seeing in print your D&H Canal Guide.

Prison official told to stop work;
don't play Russian roulette with 106 process

By JIM KALBAUGH

Preliminary excavation for the construction of the federal prison in Canaan Township has stopped after anxious bulldozers of bureaucracy were informed they had to do a better job of digging into local history and environment before permits to proceed could be issued.

The Weekly Almanac was the only news organization attending the four-and-a-half-hour-long Harrisburg meeting Friday morning, July 28, when the Federal Bureau of Prisons was advised to stop the work.

Before that meeting convened, ground behind a Canaan Road barn on the Farview State Farm complex was being scraped to prepare for staging and mobilizing equipment to be used in the project.

The advice to stop any further work that might inflame detractors' passions and imperil a procedure to assess the project's impact on the historic properties came in the State Historical Commission office when members of the Organization of Concerned Citizens (OCC) and local historical societies were meeting with engineers, contractors, consultants, PennDOT officials, architects, the federal Advisory Council on Historic Preservation, and State Historic Preservation Officer to discuss a mitigation process to resolve differences. One of the differences was that ground at the former Farview State Hospital Farm complex was being disturbed prior to the completion of an Mountains; and, we're not even halfway up the top," Mrs. Barna said.

Her main concern, she said, is the loss of the historical aspect of the trail, as well as potential income by developing it.

Robert Powell of the Carbondale Historical Society which is establishing a D&H Transportation Museum to show how the local railbed was a vital link between the Lackawanna and Hudson River Valleys bringing prosperity to those regions, said, "This railroad was the lifeblood of the communities through which it ran." The prison "adversely affects the focus of all of our historical organizations. We are trying our best to achieve a focus for the next century at least...on the basis of this railroad and the heritage we have in that." He added that a part of that is being obliterated in the prison siting.

The railbeds designated by the EIS (Environmental Impact Statement) as "abandoned", Miss DeFina noted "were never, ever abandoned by this community."

"Our community...this is a living resource, a generational living resource. We walk on it. We pick our Spring flowers. We cross-country ski and ride horses on it," Ms. DeFina said. "It's a shame the FBP is certainly telling us, 'You don't belong here', and this hurts. This is a part of our cultural anthropology. This is part of who we are. This is impact to the environment of our culture as well as other biological things," she added.

"In the community we're very concerned how, in the face of executive orders which are mandating conservation, or working toward conservation, or preservation of such a place, that his kind of project would supercede our commonwealth citizens' rights to have the executive order supported," she said.

"We're having a hard time to get the governor's office to stand by this support," she said. She

Graveyard Arrests Could Mean End of Carbondale's Vandalism

BY MICHAEL SADOWSKI
THE SCRANTON TIMES

CARBONDALE — It's been a tough couple of weeks for some Carbondale business owners who went to bed at night dreading what they might find when they returned to their stores the next morning.

But Carbondale police think they've made a dent in a recent vandalism outbreak when they nabbed six juveniles late Tuesday at the St. Rose Cemetery on Cemetery Street for vandalizing tombstones.

The juveniles will be petitioned for arrest and were released early Wednesday morning.

Carbondale Police Chief Dominick Andidora said more arrests are possible in the vandalism ring.

"Once we question the juveniles, we expect that we will find out there were more people involved," he said.

For at least two weeks, the department has been receiving complaints from businesses around town that had been hit by vandals.

The group spray-painted graffiti on downtown businesses such as the Daily Grind on River Street, the Ben-Mar Restaurant on Main Street and Zazzera's Grocery Store on Church Street.

When the police realized they had an epidemic on their hands, Chief Andidora ordered extra patrols out during the night.

"But they didn't work," he said. "We used our cruisers for the extra patrols, and the juveniles had lookouts who could watch for police cars."

This week, the department switched gears, using unmarked cars and disguised officers in those cars to search for the individuals responsible.

The effort paid off Tuesday when one unit spotted vandals at the cemetery spray painting tombstones. Chief Andidora said police believe some of the juveniles were involved in the vandalism of other property in the city.

"It's horrible that kids would even think of doing that, vandalizing tombstones," Chief Andidora said. "But now they know it's wrong and they're going to pay for it. And so will anyone else that we catch."

And it won't be cheap, either. The damage caused by the offenders reaches far into four figures, but most likely is below $10,000, said Chief Andidora.

In addition, the juveniles will face charges of criminal mischief and vandalism. Carbondale Mayor John Jordan approved of the plan, and authorized the extra patrol.

The hunt is not over. Since the chief believes there are more vandals from the group who are still on the loose, he will employ the same type of patrol at least into the weekend, and probably longer.

"We're going to make sure that we've got all of them," he said. "People should not have to worry about whether they'll wake up and their property will be destroyed."

not Saint Rose Cemetery. It's Maplewood Cemetery.*

MOOSIC GRANGE 1041

Waymart, PA 18472

September 26, 2000

Mr. Randy Howell
R. R. 1, Box 134
Waymart, PA 18472

Dear Randy:

At meetings this summer of the Moosic Grange, it was decided that the Moosic Grange would not disband, but that the Moosic Grange should sell the Grange building and land, both for $5,000, and donate the proceeds from the sale of the building and land as scholarships to several high school students interested in pursuing a career in agriculture.

We have learned that you are interested in acquiring the Moosic Grange building and land. Given the fact that you have been a member of the Moosic Grange for many years, the Moosic Grange has decided to offer you the first option to purchase the building and land.

If you are interested in buying the Moosic Grange building and land, please notify us, in writing, of your interest before October 16, 2000.

Sincerely,

S. Robert Powell

Hello,

Here I am, feeling bored and restless on this grey day, thinking of those who have shaken off the coils of Drudgery. Wondering how fare the golfers? How fare the chickens, turkeys, and other fowl?

I hear you've been busy with county fairs and chicken shows. Hope they were enjoyable, and fraught with blue ribbons. Our county fair doesn't have chickens, tho it does have cows--milk cows mostly. Thought of you and your herd. Any new additions? Did the one that was pregnant for our visit give birth successfully?

We talked at the Summer Solstice picnic of having another for the Vernal Equinox. What thinkest thou? I for one could use a day off from the routine. I've been harrassed all summer by the Laceyville town council over the placement of my trash cans, overgrowth of bushes, and other weighty issues. Your favorite stuff--"arbitrary nonsensical rules." I've decided to follow your example and cease to participate in such drivel. Told them so too. They didn't take it well. Actually, if it were happening to someone else, it would almost be funny. For every argument I made, they had an answer--even if in total they contradicted each other. For example--1. Why does the mayor speak to so-and-so Franklin personally, while sending the town cop to talk to me, thus treating people in town differently? "I didn't know who you are." [so ask someone, doofus!] 2. Why did he keep sending the cop to me about the bushes, even after I'd gotten fed up and said "If you don't like the bushes, talk to the landlord"? He didn't know Diane was my landlord, even though she's lived in town since 1985 and served on the Sewer Committee for years, and even though over the winter one of the council people asked her directly if she still owned the house. Whatever. One of their favorite rejoinders is "We're volunteers." [Duh! Last I knew no one ever had a gun held to their head forcing them to run for office] and "We don't get paid." [Duh! again. There are 7 (!) citizens for every council member. How could they possibly be paid? Why should they be? They don't do anything constructive]

Here's the best part--they've gotten a $50,000 grant for "improvements," so they're going to make a town park next to the sewage treatment plant. I know I'll be using it a lot. They grumble about all the laws that restrict them (mostly disabled-access laws) and then turn around and write more laws to restrict the townspeople in their daily lives. So the answer to the question, "Does being elected to office automatically turn people into hypocrites?" is a resounding Yes. Thank God I didn't buy a house in town. You don't have any Anyway, let me know about the picnic idea. Or maybe since the weather has mostly sucked we should try another NY trip, or an indoor picnic somewhere. Either way.

BTW, I don't know if we've corresponded since I got my new wheels. Green Honda CR-V. Very nice. Jeff has been able to live at home again. That should do us for a while, I hope.

Say Hi to your brother et al for me.

Beth

September 26

Beth:

I'm sorry about the delay in replying to your message of about 10 days ago. September and October, not unlike the other 10 months of the year, have a way of getting the best of me. It's been a lifelong problem.

The Autumnal Equinox has come and gone--unheralded and abandoned by the Harcourt voyagers/merrymakers. What to do? Last week, I was able to have lunch with Bev and Ginger and Kathy and there was some talk then of another New York trip this Fall. I'm always up for that. Finding a good day might not be easy--Bev's classes, Ginger's teaching schedule, and so on.

But we should not give up on trying to set a date for a get together. Given the complexity of everyone's weekend schedules, maybe you should all get "sick" on a weekday when the weather is very nice and we could have an autumnal "dejeuner sur l'herbe" in early October (when the leaves are in full color, etc.) at Merli-Sarnoski (without the mountain climbing)?

Robert,

Good to hear from you. The equinox, indeed, crept up on us and then blew past with a burst of speed, like an Olympic sprinter going for gold. (How's that for a topical metaphor?)

I'm all for a "sick-out," except for the necessity of planning ahead while catching a day w/ good weather. This year, one hasn't known more than a day in advance whether the weather would be decent or crummy. Some days you don't even know until the fog burns off at 9:00. I'll defer to your Martha-honed luncheon-party instincts on the logistics, I think. If you think it can be done, then by Gum, so it can. We'd better not dawdle, however--"Early October" is only a couple of weeks away. (Definitely w/o the mountain-climbing, I think)

As for New York, I can go pretty much any time. We don't even need decent weather. If we can agree on a day a couple weeks ahead of time, I can have Jeff plan his days off accordingly, so he can go with us again. Perhaps we should have another lunch and bring our Day-Planners along.

I was sorry to miss you the last time. Can't say I was sorry to miss Gerrity's though. Not too exciting. I've even gotten tired of their salads--always the same stuff to put in them. I think I went to Catalano's that day for a take-out

We should definitely meet for lunch sometime soon. Maybe Friday?

HALLOWEEN

Sunday, Oct. 31, is Halloween and the Waymart Borough Council, the police and the merchants of the area are again sponsoring a bonfire and party at Wayside Park. Since Halloween is on a Sunday, the celebration will be from 4 to 7 p.m. only. Refreshments will be available for all to enjoy. Have a fun-filled and safe Halloween.

As part of the outreach of the Wayne County Public Library, an extension in the Community Room of Wayne Woodlands Manor is now available for everyone's use. You can go there and borrow books for adults and children. Available are Large Print Books, Books on tape, and videos also. Requests can be made for any material available in the county library. All you have to do is write out a request and, unless already loaned, it will be brought to the extension as soon as possible.

District Attorney Mark Zimmer gave a presentation at the RDW School PTA about the Internet, its use and abuse. Mr. Zimmer's talk provided guidelines which every parent should consider following to safeguard a child's use of the Internet. If you would like a list of his suggestions contact the DA's office at the courthouse or call Mr. Jay Robbins or myself and we will get you a copy. Moosic Grange 041 is nestled by the side of the road in Curtis Valley. The grange has been there for 75 years plus. Granges are dedicated to serving the farmer and their surrounding community. Many Granges have closed as the farms have slowly disappeared. Their impact on the history of Wayne County as it developed provided a positive and supportive force in serving the farmer.

Last Sunday the members of Moosic Grange sat down together to enjoy a Harvest Dinner. Each person brought a covered dish to share and the table was laden with a variety of tempting dishes. Moosic Grange members and enjoyed together what our farms have provided to all of us. The group was small but the fellowship was strong. Attending were: Robert Powell, Nick and Clara Buroff, Ruth Pranzitelli, Carl and Helene Manthei, and guests, George and Florence Crossman. Times change but hopefully some Granges will always remain in the fabric of Wayne County.

A bit from our history...

Clinton Township was originally part of Canaan. On Nov. 17, 1834, it became its own township and was named for Dewitt Clinton.

The grange building & land will probably be sold to Randy Howell in 2000; the organization will probably then disband. What a shame!

Dear SRP:

I am ashamed to say that it's taken me this long to look at your wonderful and newsy website. I reread your mail from March just now, and was appalled to see it was from MARCH. Every so often I've remembered to take a look-see, but it's been a busy year, and I -- again, I'm a pitiful wreck for saying this -- simply never took the time to look at your creation, always thinking I could do it in the next day or so.

I imagine that you've received some great feedback about what must be an important communications nexus for your community. It's a great job.

On our end, we both finished hectic semesters, Andrea in nursing school and yours truly in acupuncture school. I am in the middle of a paper about omega-3 essential fatty acids for a nutrition course, and Andrea is in summer school, taking a Lit course and Microbiology. We ate omega-3-enriched eggs this morning. Delicious! A crucially important nutrient, but I won't bore you with the topic. But if you know anything interesting about chickens and such enrichment, let me know. A leading nutrition scientist, originally from Greece, says that chickens, in the days before commercial feeds, used to run around eating green vegetation, and that their eggs and meat normally contained much higher levels of EFAs than "modern" birds. I am quite taken with the topic Andrea just looked at your work, and expresses her admiration.

We were talking about having our own free-range flock when we finally move out of the city, maybe four years from now. Naturally, we are wondering if there is anyone in our circle who could provide low-cost professional consultation.

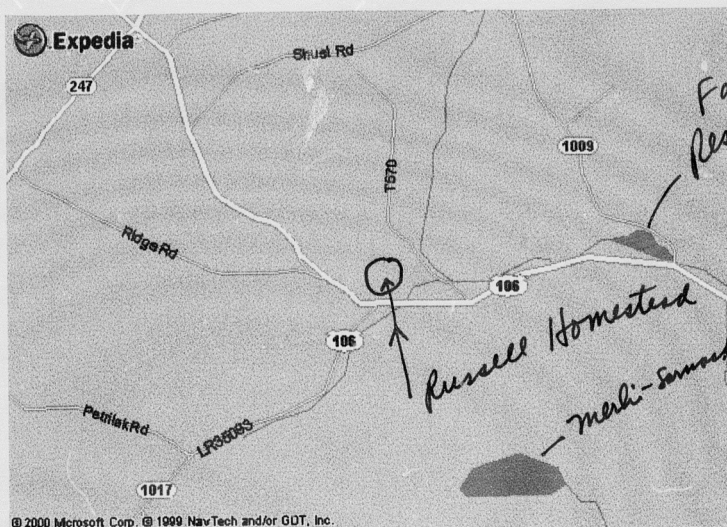

Hope your nephew, brother and golf course, and the homestead in general, are all well. And the flock, too.

Yours,

WBW

Hello.

I'm glad to see you and your chickens are still alive and well (I see your Web page has been updated today).

Nothing has really changed here at Harcourt Learning Direct. Some more people quit, and others consequently had their work stations moved from one cube to another, but it's pretty much the same old.

Well, let's get right down to the nitty-gritty of Web page design. I notice your "bookmarks" have vanished from the titles of your page's major section., so now the hyperlink index won't work. Also, the "title" of the page in the source code is "July 10, 1998," which may be confusing to your readers, since that's what shows up at the very top left of the screen.

I seem to remember offering to tweak up the source code on a semi-regular basis and didn't I even go so far as to acquire your Crosswinds password and set up a schedule so I wouldn't be in there while you were adding content? I also remember trying to arrange a time to meet you at a computer somewhere. Those offers still stand, but I must have deleted all records of those plans when I was emptying out my Sent folder. All I have relevant to your Web site is a note from you in my in-box from April!

Anyway, I think I could make your District News site a more user-friendly place with the possible added benefit of making it a little easier for you to update the file(s).

A lot of stuff I can do without ever meeting you, and you can just look at the samples and decide and tell me what you do and don't like. I'll try to redesign a copy of your page this weekend and upload it to my Crosswinds account so you can see some of the changes I'm talking about.

But we still really should arrange to meet with an hour or two agenda about enhancing the site. For example, would you like to provide an index of archived District News postings from previous months? How about a search engine for the site? And what about that toll-free number (u-reach.com) that will e-mail voice messages to your e-mail address? And what about your e-mail address? Is Juno working OK? I just get the feeling that Yahoo is the one Internet-based free e-mail address to use. I'm thinking of switching myself from usa.net. And then there's pictures. You did say you wanted to get some pictures on there, didn't you?

Oh, well. I guess I'll talk/write to you later. Bye for now.

P.S.: Can't you guys breed a chicken that hunts and eats foxes? Maybe cross a hen with some kind of raptor. (I bet you can make some real money with a bird like that.)

I have just spent much of the afternoon at the library doing next month's chicken newsletter.

I've been waiting for a reply to a chicken question from a poultry fancier in upstate New York and thought it best to check my e-mail once more before leaving the building. What a nice surprise to see your message.

Yes, please, anything you can do to make the District 2 webpage more user-friendly/high-tech/logical/coherent would be much appreciated. My Crosswinds account name is srobertpowell and my password is EAGardne

I'll be in touch after Labor Day.

Lillian Washeleski

September 27, 2000

Lillian Washeleski, formerly of 19 Reservoir St., Simpson, died Wednesday at the Forest City Nursing Center, where she was a guest. Her husband, Walter "Lodge" Washeleski, died on March 13, 1999.

Born in Witt, Ill., daughter of the late Peter and Margaret Long Anders, she was a member of St. Rose of Lima Church, Carbondale, and of its former altar and rosary society. She was a graduate of Fell Township High School, Simpson, and of Marywood College, having received bachelors and masters degrees in counseling. She also did graduate work at New York University, Susquehanna University, Penn State University and Shippensburg University. She was retired from the Fell Township School District, having served as guidance counselor, and retiring as an elementary school principal. She was also a former member of the Pennsylvania State Educators Association, the Carbondale Women's Club and the Fell Township Golden Age Club.

Surviving are a sister, May Walsh, New Jersey; several nieces and nephews.

She was also preceded in death by a brother, William Anders.

The funeral will be Saturday from the Brennan and Brennan Funeral Home, Inc., 55 Lincoln Ave., Carbondale, with Mass at 9:30 a.m. in St. Rose of Lima Church. Interment, Our Mother of Sorrows Cemetery, Finch Hill.

Friends may call Friday, 7 to 9 p.m.

Mrs. Washeleski was one of my teachers in High School. She was the first non-family member to be an SRP Cheerleader, so to speak. She encouraged me to pursue with great vigor my academic career. Because of her "push," I went to college — and that changed the direction of my life.

I attended the "viewing" on Friday.

SEVEN BUILDINGS, TWENTY-EIGHT PASTORS

1226

In its 150-year history, the Berean Baptist Church of Carbondale has been housed in seven different buildings. Those buildings, which were identified and described by Donald W. Powell in his 1979 history of the Berean Baptist Church, are:

1. The Deacon Bowen house on the west side of South Main Street.
2. The school-house opposite the First Baptist Church on South Church Street.
3. Temperance Hall on the corner of Salem Avenue and North Church Street.
4. The former Methodist meeting-house, bought in 1850 and moved to the Berean Baptist lot on North Church Street, and there remodeled and repaired.
5. The Doric wooden building built by the Berean Baptists on their lot on North Church Street, and dedicated November 29, 1859.
6. The Romanesque stone building built by the Berean Baptists on the northwest corner of North Church Street and Lincoln Avenue, and dedicated April 1, 1889.
7. The re-built Romanesque stone building built by the Berean Baptists on the northwest corner of North Church Street and Lincoln Avenue, and dedicated September 13, 1970.

The Berean Baptist Church has been served by 28 pastors during its 150-year history. They are:

Such a beautiful bag for finch seed!

10/5/00 — made a recipe / batch of Martha Stewart's "Whole-Grain-Buttermilk-Cumin" Crackers." — from p.234 of MSL, (month/year?).
Very good — but most unusual — the whole house smelled like an Indian restaurant as the crackers baked. The cumin is wonderful. I subtitled the crackers "Bombay Crackers."
Would I make them again? Yes, as I love crackers and I love cumin.

Robert Powell
RD 1 Box 40
Carbondale, PA 18407

Dear Robert Powell:

Recently, you participated in a Prostate Cancer Screening. This letter is to advise you that the laboratory reported that your prostatic specific antigen (PSA) level is 1.50, which is within the usual normal range of 0.0 to 4.0. As you were notified at the screening, the physician reported your digital rectal examination to be normal.

Please be advised that although the procedures you participated in are considered highly effective for the detection of prostate cancer, no screening can be guaranteed to be 100 percent effective. Therefore, it is important for you to see your family physician for a complete health check-up on a regular basis and be sure to bring any new signs or symptoms to his/her attention. The family doctor you identified at the screening has been sent your screening results.

Thank you for participating in this screening program.

Sincerely,

Karen Ryczak, RN
NRCI Screening Coordinator

Hello.

I would like to help out at the auction Saturday (10/14). I much rather volunteer for fairs and shows than attend as a spectator. Please call to coordinate: 570-346-0951 or 570-342-2201x282.

Let me know what kind of work I can do, and where I should meet you. (Things might work out best if I drove down myself, so we may want to rendezvous in Bloomsburg.)

By the way, I tried calling with your number from the APA Web site (282-5197), but I got a golf course. Is that number correct?

Bye, now.

Paul:

Excellent.

Yes, I think a rendezvous at Bloomsburg is a good idea.

I will be in the poultry building on the Bloomsburg Fairgrounds all day on Saturday the 14th. I plan to arrive there before 9 A.M. There should be lots of activity going on.

There will be many hundreds (perhaps thousands) of birds for sale. As the APA District 2 director, I will set up a table and sell my wares for the APA. I am also going to be involved in the food stand to a certain extent. (My plan at present is to roast a turkey and to make turkey sandwiches there for the hungry mob.)

So, there are several areas where your help would be much appreciated. I'll also get my computer questions lined up.

The phone number on the APA website is correct. The family homestead is also an 18-hole golf course (Homestead Golf Course). The golf course (which was created about 30 years ago by my parents) is now owned and operated by my brother Donald. My chickens and cows and I also live there.

See you Saturday.

Tuesday morning, 10/10/00

Donald:

Well, tonight is the big game under the lights. I'm sure that when your opponents see the size of the members of your team that they will wish they hadn't showed up for the game. Be kind. Try not to hospitalize too many of them!

It's been pretty quiet since you left on Sunday--just the sound of purring cats and the sound of the leaf blower (your father and "the crew" cleaned up leaves and branches and stuff in front of the house for most of the day yesterday and the front yard now looks very nice--as it always does). At one point this morning, the ground was "almost white"--and it's cold.

Lots of running around for me. Yesterday I did some more cleaning at the Historical Society. Last night, I went to a meeting of the directors of the Harford Fair. Today (this afternoon) I have to attend a meeting in Waymart about the proposed federal penitentiary that the Bureau of Prisons is planning to build there. Several historical societies and many community groups are trying to stop them from building the prison because it will very negatively impact the quality of life in the community if it is built. Tomorrow night, I have to do a presentation at the Carbondale Library on the Baptist Church in Carbondale. And then, this coming weekend is the auction/poultry show in Bloomsburg.

Your father and I will be anxious to hear how the game under the lights went.

Uncle Robert

Monday afternoon

Donald:

Got your message.

When is the next game? There must be at least one game a week for the next several weeks. Remind me to tell you about the time when I was playing quarterback for the Carbondale team. It was the fourth quarter, and the score was tied. It was a desperate move, but I decided to . . .

What are you playing in your music class? Do you have a fall concert? a winter concert? How many other trombone players are there? Is there a junior-high band and a senior-high band? I recently decided that I would take piano lessons. I have the name and address of a piano teacher who lives in Lake Ariel and I hope to start lessons this winter.

The next time that you're here, bring along your French book.

I'm going to be out of town for many weekends in the next month or so, but hopefully I'll be here when you're next here. This coming Friday, for example, I'm going to go to Canada to attend the Board of Directors meeting of the American Poultry Association.

The leaves are falling fast. They're pretty, but they're a lot of work for your father and the guys to clean up.

The Bloomsburg poultry show was this past weekend and I was out of town on Sunday when a load of hay arrived. Dan Shust helped the hay guy unload the hay in the hayshed across the creek. I'm hoping that Dan will be able to help unload hay a couple of more times this fall.

Pussy and Gray Cat have been busy catching moles and mice. And then the other day there was a chipmunk on the back porch--a present for your father and me from the cats.

A few days ago, when I was changing my shoes on the back porch, I put my foot into my right shoe and my foot ran into something in the shoe. It turned out to be a live mouse--which had apparently taken shelter from two prowling cats by hiding in my shoe.

So, you're cleaning your basement. I don't think I knew that you had cats there.

See ya soon.

Subject: greetings

Salutations,

Sorry we missed each other at lunch the other week. Folks have been asking about you--wondering if you've run off to tend chickens in Moscow.

Speaking of chickens, when is your Today show appearance supposed to be? I'll want to tape it. I'm looking forward to my "six degrees of separation" reaching Katie Couric and Regis Philbin (I know, different networks--but I'm sure they know each other).

Hope all is well. Say hello to your brother and nephew.

Elizabeth:

Thanks for your message. All is very well here.

This is the busiest time of the year for me. The 10-week period that ends in mid-November is especially crazy.

This coming weekend, for example, I will travel to Canada for the annual meeting of the directors of the American Poultry Association (www.ampltya.com).

Then on Tuesday next, about ten of my chickens and I will go to New York City in the afternoon. That night, I will have dinner with some NBC people and the author of a new poultry book that is being published by Harry Abrams. Wednesday morning (October 25th), the chickens and I and the author of the new poultry book (a high velocity Brit named Steven Armytage-Green, whose work has been published in lots of national magazines) will be on the Today Show.

Then on Friday next, I leave for Boston to judge a poultry show there on Saturday and Sunday. The weekend of November 4-5, I judge the Maryland State show; the weekend of November 18-19, it's Richmond, Virginia.

Who would ever believe that someone could be so completely crazy as to immerse himself in all this chicken stuff? But, I love it and I'm having a wonderful time.

One day soon I hope to get into ICS for lunch. Please convey my greetings to the 10 AM-break group.

Monday

Hello Grace:

I was very tired at the meeting on Tuesday. I guess I'm not very good at pretending not to be tired when I am very tired. Congratulations to you and Joe on an excellent meeting on Tuesday.

That's good news about the projected arrival of Tracy Huling.

I love the idea of a State Assembly hearing. That would be the perfect delaying tactic that would cause every hair on Dorworth's head to turn snowy white!

I was quiet at Tuesday's meeting for two reasons: (1) The focus of the meeting was on the five out-of-town guests--all of whom were very interesting and informative, and (2) I was under the impression that all of us at the table would, in turn, be given our two or three minutes to speak. When my turn came, I had a lot to say. Then it was 4:30 and the meeting ended.

On several occasions (as/after the others spoke) I had lots of things that I wanted to say.

Robert

RE: Request for allocation of $10,000 in 2001 Lackawanna County budget to make it possible for the Carbondale Historical Society to continue to serve the community and surrounding area

Gentlemen:

The citizens and residents of Lackawanna County are fortunate in that they have not only the Lackawanna Historical Society but also the Carbondale Historical Society and Museum to serve as the guardians of the County's rich history, heritage, and traditions.

The Carbondale Historical Society and Museum was founded at the time of America's bicentennial celebrations in 1976. Over the quarter century that the Society has been in existence, it has served the public by relying solely on a core group of dedicated volunteers. This reliance on volunteers was necessary because the Society's limited financial resources—primarily membership dues and modest donations from the public—made it impossible to hire part-time or full-time personnel.

As the County's second historical society, the Carbondale Historical Society was not eligible to receive financial support from the County. The Society's eligibility status changed, we were very pleased to learn in the final months of 1999, when Governor Tom Ridge signed into law, on November 3, 1999, a bill that permits county commissioners in the Commonwealth to appropriate funds to all historical societies in counties that have more than one historical society—such as Lackawanna County.

The Carbondale Historical Society and Museum is an organized and permanent institution that was incorporated on March 15, 1983 (copy of incorporation certificate attached) and recognized by the Internal Revenue Service as exempt from Federal income tax under Section 501 c (3) of the Internal Revenue Code on July 2, 1984 (copy of IRS letter attached).

The Society is an educational and historical organization whose mission is to record, gather, and preserve the history of the city of Carbondale and the surrounding area. Through its genealogical and local history research center on the third floor of Carbondale City Hall (listed in the National Register of Historic Places on January 6, 1983, through the efforts of the Society) and through an annual series of public lectures, programs, exhibitions, and commemorative ceremonies, in the community and in the public schools, the Society, at the same time, interprets and makes accessible to the public the City's rich, diverse, and unique history and heritage. The Society is committed to the central values of (1) maintaining the highest possible standards in all its endeavors, (2) providing excellent service to the public at all times, and (3) demonstrating leadership and innovation in the field of local history.

In 2000, the Society engaged Mrs. Frances Komorowsky (a former Green Thumb Program participant who was assigned to the Society) as a part-time staff member. Hers is the only salaried position in the organization at present. Mrs. Komorowsky's exemplary administrative talents, museum experience, and knowledge have made it possible for the Society to be open to the public year round. Assisting Mrs. Komorowsky in the effective and successful management of the Society on a day-to-day basis are the Society's officers, directors, and a core group of devoted and dedicated volunteers.

The Society is housed in Carbondale City Hall and enjoys a very positive and mutually beneficial relationship with the city government. Together, the Society's staff, officers, board of directors, and volunteers have made the Society one of the most highly respected and visible civic and community organizations in Carbondale.

County Commissioners

October 19, 2000

As we have said, the Carbondale Historical Society has very limited financial resources. Annual membership fees and donations only make it possible for the Society to maintain a modest office. In the nine-month period that the Society has paid Mrs. Komorowsky a modest weekly stipend, we have very nearly exhausted all of our savings. To continue to keep our doors open to the public, to employ Mrs. Komorowsky on a part-time basis, and to expand our program of services to the community to 40-hours a week, the Carbondale Historical Society needs $10,000 in funding per annum from an outside source.

This, then, is a request to you, the County Commissioners, to help us to continue to serve as a guardian organization for the County's rich history, heritage, and traditions by allocating $10,000 to the Carbondale Historical Society and Museum in the 2001 Lackawanna County Budget.

If we can provide you with any additional information in support of this budget request, we shall be pleased to do so.

Sincerely yours,

S. Robert Powell
President

*If this letter accomplishes its objective, the Carbondale Historical Society's future will be secure. We should know the answer
before too long.*

Dear Applicant:

Based on information supplied, and assuming your operations will be as stated in your application for recognition of exemption, we have determined you are exempt from Federal income tax under section 501(c)(3) of the Internal Revenue Code.

We have further determined that you are not a private foundation within the meaning of section 509(a) of the Code, because you are an organization described in section 509(a)(1) & 170(b)(1)(A)(vi).

If your sources of support, or your purposes, character, or method of operation change, please let us know so we can consider the effect of the change on your exempt status and foundation status. Also, you should inform us of all changes in your name or address.

Generally, you are not liable for social security (FICA) taxes unless you file a waiver of exemption certificate as provided in the Federal Insurance Contributions Act. If you have paid FICA taxes without filing the waiver, you should contact us. You are not liable for the tax imposed under the Federal Unemployment Tax Act (FUTA).

Since you are not a private foundation, you are not subject to the excise taxes under Chapter 42 of the Code. However, you are not automatically exempt from other Federal excise taxes. If you have any questions about excise, employment, or other Federal taxes, please let us know.

Donors may deduct contributions to you as provided in section 170 of the Code. Bequests, legacies, devises, transfers, or gifts to you or for your use are deductible for Federal estate and gift tax purposes if they meet the applicable provisions of sections 2055, 2106, and 2522 of the Code.

The box checked in the heading of this letter shows whether you must file Form 990, Return of Organization Exempt from Income tax. If Yes is checked, you are required to file Form 990 only if your gross receipts each year are normally more than $10,000* If a return is required, it must be filed by the 15th day of the fifth month after the end of your annual accounting period. The law imposes a penalty of $10 a day, up to a maximum of $5,000, when a return is filed late, unless there is reasonable cause for the delay.

Letter 947(DO) (5-77)

You are not required to file Federal income tax returns unless you are subject to the tax on unrelated business income under section 511 of the Code. If you are subject to this tax, you must file an income tax return on Form 990-T. In this letter, we are not determining whether any of your present or proposed activities are unrelated trade or business as defined in section 513 of the Code.

You need an employer identification number even if you have no employees.

If an employer identification number was not entered on your application, a number will be assigned to you and you will be advised of it. Please use that number on all returns you file and in all correspondence with the Internal Revenue Service.

Because this letter could help resolve any questions about your exempt status and foundation status, you should keep it in your permanent records.

If you have any questions, please contact the person whose name and telephone number are shown in the heading of this letter.

Sincerely yours,

Geraldine J. Coleman
District Director

For tax years ending on and after December 31, 1982, organizations whose gross receipts are not normally more than $25,000 are excused from filing Form 990. For guidance in determining if your gross receipts are normally not more than the $25,000 limit, see the instructions for the Form 990.

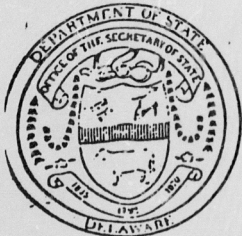

Beginning January 1, 1984, unless specifically excepted, you must pay taxes under the Federal Insurance Contributions Act (social security taxes) for each employee who is paid $100 or more in a calendar year.

Woman in Minority as She Backs Proposed Tax Hike

BY DONNIE COLLINS
THE SCRANTON TIMES

Georgianna Cherinchak believes $50 more a year can go a long way.

Others, though, don't want it to go much farther than their own wallets.

The Lackawanna County commissioners met with about 50 taxpayers Thursday night at the Carbondale Public Library in the first of four scheduled public hearings on the county's proposed 2001 budget. For the first time in four years, the budget comes with a tax increase.

The proposed spending plan includes $80.2 million for operating expenses and slightly more than $2 million for capital projects. If approved, the budget's 15 percent tax increase will cost the average county property owner an additional 14 cents a day, or $51.51 a year.

To Ms. Cherinchak, a Clarks Summit resident and business owner, that's a small price to pay to live here.

After praising the commissioners for what she called a "job well done" over the past year, Ms. Cherinchak pointed out county tax dollars go to programs that help the elderly and the disabled — like Meals on Wheels, the county health care center and public transportation for people with disabilities.

"I say that I am willing to pay that because of the quality of services that we have here," she said. "That $50 is not outrageous."

*my presentation went, I think,
very well. Let's hope for the best.*

There were others, however, who believe county taxpayers already are paying more than their fair share.

Frank Wanat, of Greenfield Township, criticized the commissioners for budgeting tax dollars toward "entertainment" ventures like the Montage Mountain ski resort.

He also blasted the majority Democratic commissioners for even considering the purchase of the Scranton Municipal Golf Course.

"Our taxes in the county are too high now," Mr. Wanat said. "My county tax bill is almost half my school tax bill. I think it's time to stop this."

Opponents of the proposed tax hike found a friend in Republican minority Commissioner Robert Cordaro, who said the proposal was unacceptable because it is "essentially double inflation."

"For whatever reason, we've had a major tax increase after each election, and here's another one," Mr. Cordaro said. "We have to look at how to avoid this gargantuan tax increase."

Majority Commissioner Joseph Corcoran blamed the tax increase on higher energy costs, growing expenses for operating the county prison and juvenile detention center, and the ever-rising cost of health insurance.

"These are things we're mandated to do," Mr. Corcoran said. "Unfortunately, there's not a lot we can do to control these things."

Hi,

Just realized that you will be on TV this week. Unfortunately, I won't be able to see the broadcast (my TV won't fit in my cube). In light of this, maybe we can have a private viewing with our "cultural club."

Just wanted to wish you good luck and to tell you to have a fun time.

Miss you at lunch, maybe we can get together next week or whenever you have time.

See you later.

Robert,

Good luck tomorrow with your appearance on the Today show. You'll be terrific! Hope to see it. What time do you expect them to feature your segment?

I saw your picture in the Scranton Times the other day and cut it out for you. Hopefully we can get together for lunch soon and you can tell us about your adventures. I'm also caring around the pictures in my purse from the Summer solstice picnic for you to see.

Have fun, Ginger

Hey Robert!

How's it going? Ginger said that you made a TV appearance, and I wanted to send a quick note to write that I am happy that things are going well for you, and to let you know that I am thinking of restarting the swim lunches, perhaps once or twice a week. If you have the free time, let me know.

Your friend,

Carl:

Good to hear from you.

Your enthusiasm, good cheer, and spontaneity are very compelling, and I miss being a part of your world.

It was, I must say, very exciting to be on the "Today" show last Wednesday with some of my feathered friends. At least one half of me loves living in the country; at least one half of me loves all the big city stuff.

Restarting the swim/lunches sounds like a great idea. One of these days soon, I'll give you a call in mid-morning.

See ya soon.

Second load of hay now in the hay shed. John Peters just delivered 131 bales; on October 15, he brought down 118 bales. One dollar/bale + $30 delivery charge per load. Very reasonable, indeed. I have not yet started to feed hay and I will delay starting for probably another week. There's still plenty of grass in the field for the 8 Herefords—all of which now look superb in their winter coats. John and I have tentatively agreed that he will bring down another load two weeks from today—November 25th. I am pleased that DWP II will be here then and he will be interested, I'm sure, in helping unload the hay. He will be here for the period 11/21-26, I believe.

Indian Summer: What, Why, and When

☐ AFTER LABOR DAY HAS PASSED, IT seems that almost any warm day in the northern part of the United States is referred to by most people as "Indian summer." And while their error is certainly not of the world-shaking variety, they are, for the most part, in error.

Besides specific dates, there are certain Indian summer criteria to be met. Indian summer is warm, of course. In addition, however, the atmosphere during Indian summer is hazy or smoky, there is no wind, the barometer is standing high, and the nights are clear and chilly. Meteorologists describe these fall conditions as caused by conversion of a moving, cool, shallow polar air mass into a deep, warm, and stagnant anticyclone (high pressure) system, which has the effect of concentrating natural dust and smoke in the air near the ground and causing a large swing in temperature between day and night.

The more controversial aspect of Indian summer is the time of its occurrence. Or whether or not there is a certain time. Most would agree that warm days in the fall do not of themselves constitute Indian summer unless they follow a spell of cold weather or a good hard frost.

Beyond that, many references to Indian summer in American literature indicate a time of "late fall" or "after late October." This is in contrast, therefore, with the time of Indian summer in old England, which can come in September, known then as St. Augustine's summer; in October, St. Luke's summer; or in November, St. Martin's summer. Those particular saints' days occur August 28, October 18, and November 11, respectively.

For the past 193 years this publication (as well as many other 19th-century almanacs) has always adhered to the saying, "If All Saints brings out winter, St. Martin's brings out Indian summer." Accordingly, Indian summer can occur between St. Martin's Day, November 11, and November 20. If the conditions that constitute Indian summer, described above, do not occur within those dates, then there is no Indian summer that year.

If there is a period of warm fall weather at a time other than between St. Martin's Day and November 20, then such a time could be correctly described as being like Indian summer.

Finally, why is Indian summer called Indian summer? Some say it comes to us from early Indians who believed the condition was caused by a certain wind emanating from the court of their God Cautantowwit or the Southwestern God. Others feel the term evolved from the fact that around the time of Indian summer, or shortly before it, the deciduous trees are "dressed" as colorfully as Indians.

The most probable origin of the term, in our view, goes back to the very early settlers in New England. Each year they would welcome the arrival of cold wintry weather in late October when they could leave their stockades without worrying about Indian attacks and commence preparing their fields for the following spring plantings. The Indians didn't like attacking in cold weather. But then came a time, almost every year around St. Martin's Day, when it would suddenly turn warm again, and the Indians would decide to have one more go at the settlers even though it was no longer their normal raiding season. "Indian summer," the settlers called it. ☐ ☐

The mountain of papers on my desk is now largely under control. It has taken me many hours to get to this point. The mountain grew during the 8 weekends I was out of town this Fall:

9/14 - Monday - Syracuse, NY

9/9-10 - Bath, NY

9/15-17 - Mason City, IA

9/23-24 - Cobleskill, NY

9/30 - 10/1 - Flemington, NJ

10/14-15 - Bloomsburg, PA

10/20-22 - Woodstock, Ontario, Canada

10/28-29 - Boston, MA

11/4-5 - Frederick, MD

It was a wonderful and very gratifying Fall poultry season — but during those many out-of-town weekends, not ^{much} got done at my desk — and the "mountain" grew.

Nephew Don:

Glad to learn that you'll be spending six days here, starting next Tuesday.

Who knows what the weather is supposed to be like. Your father mentioned this morning that it's supposed to snow this Thursday. People are still golfing, of course.

The poultry show season is over now. This past weekend was the first weekend that I have been home in months.

Got another load of hay on Saturday; another load scheduled for the Saturday after Thanksgiving. Maybe you can help unload hay?

I wonder if you have been covering this Florida election thing in your social studies classes at school?

Indian Summer: What, Why, and When

☐ AFTER LABOR DAY HAS PASSED, IT seems that almost any warm day in the northern part of the United States is referred to by most people as "Indian summer." And while their error is certainly not of the world-shaking variety, they are, for the most part, in error.

Besides specific dates, there are certain Indian summer criteria to be met. Indian summer is warm, of course. In addition, however, the atmosphere during Indian summer is hazy or smoky, there is no wind, the barometer is standing high, and the nights are clear and chilly. Meteorologists describe these fall conditions as caused by conversion of a moving, cool, shallow polar air mass into a deep, warm, and stagnant anticyclone (high pressure) system, which has the effect of concentrating natural dust and smoke in the air near the ground and causing a large swing in temperature between day and night.

"Classic American Elm" Re-Born!

Resists Disease, Cold, Insects

(OT 124) No other tree is so uniquely American, so easily grown, and so shapely a landscape tree as is the American Elm. It's uniquely spreading vase shape turned thousands of American streets into shaded, outdoor cathedrals until disease wiped them out. Now, the American Elm has been "re-born" into an elm that shrugs off otherwise deadly Dutch Elm disease, and insects too. Grows upright in classic vase shape; tolerates poor soil and urban stress. The price is higher than we like, but for elm-lovers, it's worth it.

Hello Fellow Travelers:

Well, I'm feeling somewhat guilty about not having been a better correspondent with kindred spirits such as you. But as we all know, much too well, things sort of pile up.

New York on December 9th sounds great. If someone can front me the cash for the reservation, I'll reimburse you as soon as I see you--on the 9th, if not before. Or should I send a check to someone?

Thanksgiving is one of my favorite holidays. My nephew arrives tonight for a six-day visit, and that will be fun. We will celebrate the holiday in a very traditional manner.

Happy Thanksgiving to all. See ya soon.

Robert

Robert,

Good to hear from you.

Are any of your turkeys going to "join in" the celebration?

I won the Catalano's basket in the United Way drawing this year. Yum!

Happy Thanksgiving.

Patriotism

By Donald W. Powell

Patriotism means love of country. The word patriotism is derived from the Greek word patriot, meaning fatherland.

To show patriotism you must show admiration and love for the fatherland and the customs and traditions your country has. The feelings a person has for his family are the same feelings he could have for his country. They are both units to which we all belong. Just as one would want to love and protect his family, so, too, he would want to love and protect his country.

People who are patriotic are willing to defend their country against all challengers or those who will not allow them to exercise their rights as citizens of an independent country. The Pilgrims, for example, left England and came to what would become America in search of religious freedom. Here, they were allowed to practice their religion without restrictions. Ultimately this love of personal liberty became the cornerstone of the American nation—a land where the right to life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness is now taken for granted. Four of those patriots (John Alden, Priscilla Mullins, and her parents) are, I am proud to say, ancestors of mine.

At the time of the American Revolution, for example patriotism meant taking a stand against British domination. The patriots of the time, one of whom, John Griswold, an ancestor of mine, took a patriotic stand and helped to create the country we now call America.

During the Civil War patriotism meant many different things to many different people. To those in the North it meant one thing and to those in the South it meant another. To Alvin R. Squire, my great, great, great, great grandfather, and thousands of such men it meant fighting for the North. For thousands of other Americans it meant fighting for the South. Only one of those causes could prevail if America was to survive. Because of that difficult war we are now a unified nation. More recently, my father's brother Russell enlisted in the Navy during the Vietnam War and spent two years in Antarctica as a Seabee.

For me, then, given the patriotic stand many of my ancestors took in the course of American history, and given my own personal beliefs and ideals, patriotism has a dual meaning—love of family, love of country.

The circasian bedroom used to be Grandma Russell's (OELR) and then it was Mom's in her final years and now it has become mine. I moved in here when there was no longer any room in my bedroom at the left at the top of the stairs — too many filing cabinets and dressers.

I do like sleeping in the Circasian room. Bed very comfortable. Every morning, I make the bed and make the room look very presentable before I go downstairs.

It's a wonderful room to wake up in — all the windows. The three-drawer night stand came here from 14 Dart Avenue — the Samuel Jones house. Mom's sewing machine & typewriter are still in this room. Also, "Kenneth's Chair" from Edith Gardner.

Alice Voyle Rashleigh (AVR) was a friend of the Will Russell family. AVR's mother's father, Thomas Voyle, was a mayor of Carbondale in the 19th Century (he served 3 different terms). This afternoon at 2 P.M. in City Council Chambers in City Hall, we (the Historical Society) unveiled a portrait of Thomas Voyle — also portraits of mayors William Brennan & John Jordan. TV coverage of the event was broadcast on Channel 16 at 6 P.M.; also on FOX-TV at 10 P.M.

During the 6 P.M. coverage, I spoke on the air. Very good coverage for Carbondale and for the Historical Society. I am very pleased. To commemorate the event, I made a recipe of AVR's "pickled beets" — which is in Mom's recipe file and marked "very good." AVR would be very pleased to know what we did today for her beloved city.

The holiday memories that mean so much to all of us as adults are founded on special moments which, in spite of their monumentality to us as adults, were frequently brief interludes / happenings in what were probably quite ordinary days. And such memories are startlingly fragile and transitory and almost always highly personal.

They evaporate, invariably, at the moment of our deaths. My Thanksgiving memory package is different from yours, and necessarily so. What always strikes me as so sad at the time of someone's death is that their entire memory package — which sustained them through thick & thin, through good days and bad, year in and year out — evaporates and nothing can really be done about it.

Whenever I am at home and I know that DWP II is to arrive here for a visit, I always make a special effort to make sure that this house and everything about it are at their best to welcome DWP II. Tonight, I made sure that the light on the post out front & the front porch light were on, for example. Both are very welcoming and, with the snow covered ground, very beautiful. DWP II, to my great pleasure, remarked on how nice the lights out front on the snow looked. I always clean his room, make his bed, clean all the bathroom, the living room, and the upstairs hall. Everything is immaculate, in order, and "normal." If possible, I try to have something baking in the oven. And then when he arrives, the house can work its magic on him.

Amazing day. Filled to overflowing with activity. Very gratifying.

8:30 AM - Discovered that one of the Herefords was out during the night & on this side of the road. It returned to the pasture before we knew it was over here. It was probably a young one that got through the fence and then lost contact with the herd.

8:35 AM - Kitchen sink plumbing came apart; flood in the kitchen. DWP & I repaired the problem.

Noon - DWP II & I walked the entire fence around the cow pasture; no major breaks, but some reinforcing was necessary here & there

2-4 PM - DWP II & I went to town; went to Carbondale News to thank Tom Fontana at the Carbondale, I borrowed two copies of "The Adventures of Tom Sawyer," which DWP II has to read and which his father and I will also read in the next few days.

DWP II and I had some of the Coriander Spice cake — very good; it will also be dessert tomorrow at Thanksgiving Dinner.

Very nice Thanksgiving. DWP I & II, Peg, & S R P. We sat at the dining room table. We used Mom's Noritake China & silver. Two 3-branch Candelabras in the middle of the table. Turkey, mashed potatoes, rutabagas, orange/cranberry relish, stuffing, Cranberry bread, nut bread, Alice Rashleigh's pickled beets, Coriander spice cake for dessert - with Dayceley tea. Everything went beautifully. DWP II had a grand time. We talked a lot about family things and looked at lot of the photographs in the two drawers in the Alice Rashleigh bookcase in the dining room. I wouldn't change a single thing about the day had I to do it over again. Everything went beautifully & was very nice. In the early evening, DWP II composed and typed a 300-word essay on "patriotism". Tomorrow he will go with the Shust family to watch Dan Shust play in a big playoff game in Shamokin. Departure about 3 P.M.

11-23-00-2 Incubator on.

I will put 42 eggs into an incubator tomorrow - mostly Partridge and Silver-Penciled Rock eggs, but also a few Buff Orpington and maybe one or two Buff Minorca / Orpington cross eggs. I have good reason to believe that fertility will be good, but it's all a gamble / unknown at this point, of course. The good thing is that the breeding pens are set up and "working" and lots of fertile eggs and chicks will follow in due time.

With any luck, then, I will have some chicks by Christmas. And once egg production kicks in big, I should get 8-10 eggs per day and by then I should be able to hatch as many chicks as I want. What I really want to do is hatch several hundred Partridge & Silver-Penciled Rocks this winter and spring.

Wonderful day with DWP II. He helped me unload two loads of hay that John Peters brought down — 125 bales at 11 AM; 131 bal at 430 P.M. We three stacked the hay in the hay wagon near the back of Decker's Field & then covered it with plastic. DWP II and I had a nice walk in the woods at the back of the field, which I love a great deal and so does DWP II. In the evening, we made a batch of gingerbread cookies — using the traditional cookie cutters, one of which belonged to Margaret Gilespie Locke Russell (my maternal grandfather's mother). We then decorated about 20 of the cookies with teal-colored icing. I enjoyed the day a great deal and so did DWP II. It pleases me a great deal that he is so fond of the 50 acres across the road from the house.

12-02-00 Animals in winter, especially those that can remain outside & which must be fed & watered by us humans, e.g. Hereford cattle, mute swans, and muscovy ducks, become, quite understandably, very tame. They quickly learn, of course, where their next meal comes from & so they become "friendly" with their keepers. I can walk right up to and touch (scratch their ears & noses) most of the cows now. In the summer, I can't get closer than 20 feet. The same is largely true of the swans, although I can't touch them — even in winter.

This winter behavior on their part is very gratifying to their owner — who derives a great deal of pleasure out of looking after their ^{winter} survival needs. It's gratifying, I guess, because it gives me a good feeling (1) to know that I am needed, and (2) to satisfy so completely their needs. Winter, it appears, fosters a strengthening of the bond between them and me.

12/2/00

The cats, as well, are "friendlier"
in winter than summer.

The hay wagon, piled sky-high with bales of hay, has become the locus of the cows' world. In many respects, they are focused on it as they would be on a haystack.
It's all quite cozy and wonderful.
For the next 6 or 8 weeks at least, the cows will be fed from the hay wagon. Then, in mid- to late-January, I'll start feeding them from the hay shed by the bridge.

And then it will be spring.
I know it's only December 2nd, but I have already begun to project forward into early spring.
I look forward to the solstice so that I can note & observe signs of spring.

12-3-00 Death in the Cow Pasture. ¹²⁹¹

Nine months ago, on March 2, a cow and her twin calves all died in a terrible butch accident. The water broke first on the calf farthest from the butch canal and it couldn't get around its twin. In a desperate effort to be born its feet & legs must have pierced its mother's womb, causing her to bleed to death & then the two calves died. It must have been a terrible death for them all. She died in the hemlock woods and that is where I buried her on March 5. Burying the cow & her unborn calves in the woods in the largely frozen ground was like trying to bury a refrigerator in an asphalt-covered parking lot. The whole sequence of events was very difficult on me. It's only now - 9 months later - that I can even write about it. Last week when DWP II was here we looked at the pile of bones that was bossy and her calves. It now seems like it's over. For weeks after the difficult burial, I worried that the decaying carcasses would stink up the area around the house and affect the golf course's business. They didn't, miraculously. All summer long, I avoided the death area. It's over now, I believe.

Two beautiful calves were born to other cows later in the spring - a bull, and a heifer - both born without any problems. The heifer has horns. She is the first female calf born here and I am very pleased to have her. There are now 8 Herefords in my small herd, which I keep in tribute to Grandpa Russell (W. A. R.), my maternal grandfather -- a dairy farmer. During his day my cow pasture was a hayfield that we called Decker's Field, because a Decker family lived in the ^{3rd} house up the dirt road by the edge of the Cow pasture. Damian Rusin & family live there now. My 8 Herefords live in Cow heaven -- plenty of open field & abundant grass; plenty of hemlock & open woods where it is cool in the summer & warm in the winter; abundant water in the creek. I feed the cows about the same time every morning: four bales a day keeps them quite content. They take in stride the coldest of winter days. They are remarkable animals.

12-8-00 Getting Back to Normal.

after about 10 days of computer problems at the Carbondale Public Library, things have returned to normal, at least as far as the computer upstairs is concerned. Today, this afternoon, I was very pleased to be able to update - on a disk - my "District 2. ltr" files and then upload them to the Internet. It's not an especially difficult process when the machines are working properly; but when the machines are not in perfect order it is an impossibility. If time had allowed, I would also have updated the arpington webpage material. That will have to take place next week. While at the CPL today, I took care of a lot of e-mail correspondence and bureaucratic details. Forge ahead. Keep pushing. Keep organizing. Keep Clarifying. And "the mountain" will go away.

12/10/00 - Crystal Band concert at Baptist Church, SRP as Master of Ceremonies. Huge success; the band sounded great.

12/13/00 - Christmas Dinner of the Historical Society at Pettinato's Restaurant. Wonderful success, about 50 people for dinner. We gave three awards for distinguished achievement in historical preservation (Tiffany-Davis house; Burke-Cannell house; PMWT). I showed about 50 slides of Carbondale. Everyone loved the slide show.

12/15/00 - Carbondale City Hall Christmas Party. Mrs Komorowsky, Rita Scath, Joe Pascoe, & I attended. Two County Commissioners were present and both were very friendly to us. Perhaps this means (I hope, I hope) that they have included the Carbondale Historical Society in the 2001 Carbon County budget for $10,000. If so, that will guarantee the survival / the future of the Historical Society.

12/15/00 — e-mailed my column to Lorna Rhodes for the APA's Winter 2000 "News & Views." as always, I worked very hard on my column — which I think reads well, very well. It's long and news-filled and will be seen as an important end-of-the-year statement from the District 2 director (i.e. — SRP).

12-23-00 - 1045 P.M.

DWP II arrived for an 8-day Christmas visit. Filled with enthusiasm was he about a big win in a wrestling tournament. He had the trophy with him. He is growing by leaps and bounds and is very committed to his physical presentation of self.

Within minutes of his arrival, at about 4 P.M., he was out on the hill here on his snow board. He will become a world class athlete in something — just about anything that he chooses, it seems.

I spent several hours cleaning and straightening up the inside of the house today before his arrival. I want him to associate cleanliness and order with this house.

When he came in from snowboarding, at about dark, I suggested that we should make some cookies of some kind. I had the Wherewithal to make a recipe of Mom's Date and Nut Pinwheel cookus and that is what we did for several hours. Every day that he is here, I will engage him in some never-to-be-forgotten Christmas-at-home experience. The Date and Nut Pinwheels qualify for today's memory chip, I would say. Tomorrow, Christmas Eve, it will probably be the trip to the woods beyond the cow pasture to cut down and drag home a Christmas tree - and then decorate it.

Chicks hatching in an incubator in my bedroom. About 15 now out and perhaps that many again to come. There appear to be some very nice looking Partridge Rock Chicks now out and about; also a few standard Buff Orpingtons which should be excellent birds. When I was candling eggs last night, I was very pleased to discover that the two White Ameraucana eggs are fertile.

at mid-morning today, I gave 14 eggs to each of two setting hens (Buff orpington, Silver-Penciled Rock) up in the barn. There is no reason why they can't hatch and raise broods at this time of year. When they hatch, I will put them in pens with a brooder-lamp and they will be fine.

very cold last night — about 8 below zero when I got up at about 8 PM today. And again tonight it is cold. It was about zero when I came upstairs at about 1030 PM with DWP II. Winter is now about half over. Soon the days will be appreciably longer, and the march towards Spring will pick up a rapid pace and these very cold winter days will be dim memories.

Using Grandma Russell's and Mom's recipe — and cooking pans — OWP II and I made seven Suet Puddings this afternoon / evening. It's a wonderful recipe with all manner of home-and-heart spices and ingredients. Instead of cooking them in Mom's pressure cooker, we cooked them / steamed them in a Canning Kettle on top of the stove — for three hours. They turned out beautifully / perfect — and we will have one at Christmas dinner tomorrow. I am very pleased, very pleased with the result. Suet pudding is, in many respects, the essence of Christmas for me and naturally I wanted them to turn out well. Mom would be so pleased to know that the tradition lives on. In mid-week, we'll have Joe Pascoe out for an evening and we'll have another suet pudding then.

1301

DWP II & his buddy Dan Shurt spent much of the day at Elk Mountain snow boarding. When they returned in late afternoon, he and I went over to the woods at the back of the cow pasture and cut down a Christmas tree — a hemlock. We dragged it home through the snow covered field and put it up in the living room in front of my curly maple linen press / china cupboard. We then fixed up the suet puddings and got them going on the stove and then had supper (spaghetti & some of my home-canned tomato / basil / parsley spaghetti sauce. When the supper dishes were all washed & put away, DWP II and I then decorated the tree. Very festive. Tree goes all the way to the ceiling. It's everything it should be.

1302

While all this Christmas Eve behavior was going on, Chicks were hatching in an incubator in my bedroom — a total of 24 Chicks, with 21 of them Plymouth Rocks (mostly Partridge but also some Silver Penciled) and 3 of them Standard Buff Orpingtons. Very nice hatch. I'll move the Chicks up to the barn tomorrow — probably in mid-morning — into the same pen/brooder area as the 25+ now there. These chicks have a very appealing big-ness to them — and I am very pleased to see so many Partridge Chicks. I will continue to set and hatch Rocks for several more months. I want to have at least 100 young Rocks by early Spring!

Very nice Christmas. Traditional in every way and very enjoyable. Turkey into the oven by 9 AM. DWP II and I then went over and fed the Herefords and then I took care of the chickens, swans, ducks, and pigeons.

DWP II did some snow-boarding, at about 11 AM, we prepared the potatoes & vegetables and then Cousin Peg arrived, with nut bread (Aunt Louise's recipe) and Brown Bread (Mom's recipe) and Cranberry Mashed. We had dinner in the dining room, using Mom's porcelain and silver. Very nice. Tea & Suet Pudding for dessert. Then we opened presents in the living room. Very festive. We all had a good time. All the pre-Christmas frenzy and dashing about all seems to go away, beginning on Christmas eve, and then things get quiet and lovely and enjoyable. We are still in the clutches of a cold spell — the temperature was below 10°F for much of the day and there was an icy wind out of the NW.

all is well in the barn. In fact, in late-afternoon today I took the 24 newly-hatched chicks up to the barn and put them in a brooder pen with the 25 of a couple weeks ago. The older chicks immediately began serving as role models / mentors for the younger ones. About 11 PM, I went up and checked on the chicks and they were in great form. There ^{are} around 50 eggs in the 2nd incubator in my bedroom and I will candle them tomorrow and see what's what. Another large batch of chicks are due to hatch this coming week-end. The breeding / hatching season is going well.

Donald had a grand time snow boarding at Elk Mountain this afternoon - and then tonight he snow boarded down #10 Fairway - between two lanterns with candles in them. I never would have believed that so much light could be given off by 2 candles. We had a very cozy supper at the kitchen table tonight - primarily the leftovers from Christmas dinner - and all very delicious. We three watched the final couple of hours of "Pride & Prejudice" with Colin Firth. Beautifully done. Donald will one day be the lord of this manor" and will surely be a prize for some very lucky girl. My fondest wish is to see it all happen. The next ten years should be very interesting and enjoyable to be a part of. As Donald's uncle, I should have the advantage of a ring-side seat.

12/26/00 - p. 2

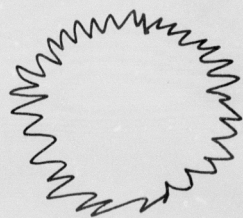

To my great pleasure, another of my 2-year old Partridge Rock hens laid an egg today. I immediately arranged a conjugal visit with the half Partridge / half silver Penciled Cockerel that heads a breeding pen with about 6 other Partridge females. I will arrange such visits daily and can only hope that she lays a couple dozen eggs. Let's hope that this is a sign / indication that some of the other 2-year old Partridge hens will start to lay. Chicks from these old hens & the superior Cockerel mentioned above should be among the most wonderful Partridge Rocks anywhere. I want to raise at least 25 superior Partridge Rock pullets this year. Indications at present are that it will be a good breeding / hatching season.

Christmas gathering here with Joe Pascoe. We sat at the dining room table. I served tea and suet pudding. We exchanged presents.
Earlier in the day, DWP II and I were in the "dollar store" on main street in Carbondale, where
I saw a copy of "Puss in Boots."
We (DWP II and I) read the complete text aloud at the dining room table tonight. I read the first page and then DWP II finished the story. Very charming. We should repeat the reading on an annual basis. The suet pudding, which DWP II + I made earlier in the week, tasted wonderful.
DWP II had two or three slices.
The "seed", it appears, has been planted.

12/28/00 In the early evening, DWPT and I made a batch of gingerbread cookies from the Betty Crocker cookbook. We then decorated them with 4 different colors of icing: orange, brown, avocado, and sky blue.
 It's somewhat of an annual tradition for Donald and I to make gingerbread cookies. After we had finished and had tasted a couple of our creations, Donald declared them to be "the best ever" of our gingerbread cookie endeavours — and I think I agree with him. We used only three cookie cutters — a large gingerbread man, a diamond shaped cookie, and the Margaret Russell cookie cutter — about 2½" in diameter with the circumference in the following manner →

Spent much of the day preparing to print, and then having printed, the December 29, 2000 issue of the Newsletter of the Central Pennsylvania Avian Club. It's a 14-page newsletter and it's got lots of District 2 news in it. I made final corrections to the final copy at the Carbondale Library and then drove to Scranton and had copies printed at P.D.Q. Spent several hours this evening collating, feeding, and inserting in envelopes the printed copies. I won't have the mailing ready — at least I don't think I will — in time to get it to the Post office tomorrow, but I should have it all set to go by Tuesday, which is January 2nd. Made about 10 corrections to my article on American Game bantam for the 2001 APA Yearbook. Final copy of article due in APA office before January 31st

Alice Rashleigh would be proud of me!
In ceremonies at Carbondale City Hall about an hour ago (11 P.M.) to kick off the year-long celebration of Carbondale's 150th birthday, I was the principal speaker. The ceremonies took place in and around City Hall. The Mayor and I spoke from the balcony of City Hall. The crowd was below in the street - which was closed to vehicular traffic.
I spoke in the capacity of president of the Historical Society.
The thrust of my remarks was this: Carbondale's founders believed in themselves and their future.
If we believe in ourselves and in our future, anything is possible. The sky's the limit.
Get involved. We can build a future.

Most appropriately on this New Year's Eve, I have an incubator full of Plymouth Rock & Orpington eggs that are hatching tonight. In addition, I put about 50 eggs into another incubator earlier this evening. So there are many new beginnings underway here in the poultry world. There are also a couple of hens up in the barn that are hatching Chicks tonight.

I spent several hours today and tonight working on two poultry articles for the APA and ABA 2001 yearbooks: an article on American Game bantams for the APA; an article on Frank L. Gary for the ABA. Both are due on January 31st; both will be quite long.

Dear Friend of the Carbondale Public Library:

As you know, the Carbondale Public Library is supported primarily by the Lackawanna County Library tax. Like all not-for-profit organizations, however, the Library has a need for supplemental funds to purchase additional materials, to extend services, to diversify programming, and to serve as guardian of its collections.

You can help the Library continue its long tradition of providing state-of-the-art library service to its patrons by including in your will a gift to the Library for specific or general purposes. There are, you'll be pleased to learn, important tax benefits associated with such a gift—all such gifts are tax-free for both federal estate tax and Pennsylvania inheritance tax. (If you don't have a valid will, you lose control over your belongings after death. Your property and finances are settled according to state laws, whether or not they coincide with family wishes.)

You can arrange for such a gift in several ways, the most common being through a will. Some people set aside a certain dollar amount for a specific organization, such as the Library, in their will. Others leave a percentage of their estate or any assets left over after their family has been given consideration. Some people give an organization something they own, such as real estate or securities. Others leave a paid-up life insurance policy or other financial investments.

Such a gift, which can be made to the Library in memory of a person or for a specific purpose, is a wonderful way to recognize someone who has made a difference in your life. Such a gift to the Library is also a wonderful way of saying "thank you" to the Library for doing all that it does, day in and day out, for the community.

Speak with your financial planner, lawyer, accountant, or other professional you're working with and talk with him or her about leaving a gift to the Carbondale Public Library in your will. Your professional advisor will make sure that you are getting the maximum tax and legal advantages allowed for your gift. You have the power to make an incredible difference to the Carbondale Public Library. Remember the Library in your will. Leave a legacy.

Sincerely,

Carbondale Public Library

YOU CAN MAKE A DIFFERENCE!

Dear Friend of the Carbondale Public Library:

As you know, the Carbondale Public Library is supported primarily by the Lackawanna County Library tax. Like all not-for-profit organizations, however, the Library has a need for supplemental funds to extend services, to diversify programming, to serve as guardian of its collections, and to purchase materials that could not be acquired due to budget limitations.

You can help the Library continue its long tradition of providing state-of-the-art library service to its patrons by making either a memorial or a celebration donation to the Library.

MEMORIAL DONATIONS

Such gifts are a wonderful and meaningful way to perpetuate the memory of a friend or relative.

CELEBRATION DONATIONS

Such gifts are a very special way to honor a friend or relative on a special occasion: birthday, anniversary, college graduation, new job—you name it.

Upon receipt of your donation, the Library will send an acknowledgment to both the donor and the family of the person or persons memorialized or to the person honored. If you would like, your donation to the Library can be used for a specific purpose or it can be directed to the general-usage fund. In any event, your donation will be recorded for posterity in the official proceedings of the Library.

Make the Library a part of your life. Make a memorial or a celebration donation today. You'll be surprised at how good such a donation will make you feel.

Dear Sally:

I have been using the computers in the Carbondale Library to type up the minutes of library Board meetings and other library-related matters. I have been storing the files of the minutes of all Board meetings on a disk (which makes it convenient, because sometimes there are corrections and additions to the minutes after the meeting has taken place).

Now it appears that the A drive on the Carbondale computers (perhaps all computers in the system) has been disabled or perhaps just made into a read-only drive. This causes a problem because I can't access what I originally typed.

How do I solve this problem. If you or anyone wants to scan my disks to make sure that they contain no viruses, that will be fine with me. I can even leave my disks at the desk in the Carbondale Library to guarantee that they are not used anywhere else (which would perhaps expose them to a virus of some sort) and then pick them up when I come into the Carbondale Library to do work on the computers here.

Any assistance that you can provide in helping me around this electronic roadblock would be much appreciated.

Sincerely,

S. Robert Powell

Obituaries

HELEN R. WEDEMAN

Helen R. Wedeman, Greenfield Township, died Tuesday, Nov. 14, morning at Marian Community Hospital, Carbonado, after an illness. She was the widow of Warrick Wedeman, who died in 1981.

Born in Jermyn, daughter of the late Frederick and Ruth Carey Stephens, she was a presser in several local dress factories for 27 years before retirement.

Surviving are a daughter, Louise Schweitzer, Greenfield Township; a brother, Thomas Stephens, San Jose, Calif.; four grandchildren; six great-grandchildren; four great-great-grandchildren; nieces and nephews.

She was also preceded in death by two brothers, Robert and Spencer.

Funeral arrangements were made by Battenberg Funeral Home, Jermyn.

Helen & Warrick Wedeman were friends of Mom & Dad's. They were always nice to us. I remember going to their home, just up the Whitmore Road.

The kitchen was big and appeared to be the center of activity for the house: one sat in the kitchen in the evening, it seemed.

11/30/00

Dear Louise,
 I was sorry to learn of the death of your mother.

Such fond memories of both your parents will always be with me. I remember several visits to your house - the very large & cozy kitchen in particular.

The world of your parents & my parents is quickly disappearing. We were lucky to have them
 as parents.

Sincerely,
 Robert

Three more mayor portraits to be displayed in City Hall

The unveiling in City Council Chambers of three more portraits of mayors of Carbondale, sponsored by the Carbondale Historical Society, will take place on Sunday, Nov. 19, at 2 p.m.

The master of ceremonies will be the Historical Society's president, Dr. S. Robert Powell. Mr. and Mrs. Myron Hellman will preside at the refreshment table. The public is invited to attend.

The three mayors whose portraits will be unveiled are Mayor William Brennan (1865-1866), Thomas Voyle (1867-1869, 1873-1874, 1882-1883), and John Jordan (2000-present). The portraits of Mayors Brennan and Voyle are original compositions by Alice Stolle, Carbondale.

These portraits will become part of the permanent exhibition of mayors' portraits in Council Chambers. The exhibition curator is Joseph Pascoe, the treasurer of the Historical Society.

Portraits of 25 of Carbondale's mayors already are on display in Council Chambers, including a photographic reproduction of an oil painting by J.W. Raught of the city's first mayor, James Archbald. This painting is an oil on canvas that was copied by Raught from a painting by Elliott, dated 1845.

Property Committee
Girl Scouts of America
333 Madison Avenue
Scranton, PA 18510

Dear Friends in Scouting:

In a conversation with the Rev. Paul W. Gere in the summer of 1999, we learned (1) that one of the fountains that used to stand in downtown Carbondale is now located at Camp Archbald in Brooklyn/Kingsley, and (2) that the Girl Scouts of America were interested in finding a suitable home for the fountain. We understand that the fountain was originally moved to Ely Lake by Ed Ely, a jeweler from Carbondale, and that the fountain now stands about 75-100 yards off the SW edge of Ely Lake on property now owned by the Girl Scouts of America.

At the time of our conversation with the Rev. Gere, renovations and restoration of Carbondale's Memorial Park were underway and we were not able to take any action on behalf of the fountain. At the present time, however, we are interested in taking whatever steps might be necessary to have the fountain moved back to Carbondale and re-installed in the downtown area.

Please advise us on how to proceed in order to arrange to have the fountain moved from its present location back to Carbondale.

Sincerely,

S. Robert Powell
President

You'll enjoy this one...

This morning I passed a guy in a minivan who was reading a pamphlet while driving. As I passed, he drifted toward my lane and I was about to beep him when I noticed he was reading and it threw me off for a sec. Meanwhile he looked up (how thoughtful) and corrected. I decided I'd had it with people's crap so I slowed down and let him pass me and took his license number. He was still reading. Caught up with him again a couple miles later and yes, still with the papers on the steering wheel.

Called the cops. Officer Vitale was apologetic but said that simply reading isn't considered "reckless driving." He has to do something (i.e., sideswipe my car as I passed) or the magistrate will throw it out. Isn't that nice? Here I thought you were actually supposed to look out your windshield in the direction your car is moving at 60 mph. Silly me. It's times like this that I really miss the Suburban. 6,000 pounds and already scratched and rusty, and ready to take on any minivan ever built.

I guess now I'll be able to catch up on my Chaucer in the mornings. I've never read War and Peace, either.

Just wait'll web-enabled cars start to take off. Better buy a crash helmet.

Robert:

What's this... A Today show appearance (with 10 of your chickens) will be 10/25 (Wed.).

First Martha, now Katie. Good for you Robert!!! I'll try my hardest to leave at the last minute to view your segment.

Nothing much new. Busy teaching every night including Saturday's. I now have 7 private students ranging in age from children to adult. Strictly word of mouth. I'm exhausted but loving it. I figure I better make hay while the sun shines. I'm looking forward to a watercolor painting workshop this weekend myself. I don't have a strong back ground so I hope to learn technique. and have some fun.

How does Dec 9th for NYC? I would even take a day off in Dec to make a trip. Perhaps a shopper special? I really, really need a NY fix.

Take care with all that traveling.

Later, Ginger

Heard you are doing a lot of traveling with the birds - good for you. I bet you wish you were back at Harcourt so you could get some rest?????!!!!!!! Only joking!

Hope the 12/9 trip goes off.

Well, as it turns out, the Lackawanna County Library system has not put a block on the A drives on the computers in the Carbondale library. I think that damaged/defective Word files on these computers was the problem. They've had their computer person look at these machines and clean them up (electronically) and then re-install Word and now everything seems fine.

The only "block" that appears to be in effect here is the one on my brain. I did venture into freedrive.com and set up some space there: filename "srobertpowell," with the same password that I use everywhere, "EAGardner"

Just now I made a number of text changes to the District 2 files on my disk, hoping to then upload them to the Internet. I'm not sure what then happened, but some of those nice green bullets that you have set up on the webpage turned into boxes and the photo of the Silver-Penciled Rocks turned into an empty box. At the same time, some gif files, which I didn't delete, appeared on my disk. I couldn't get it all back to normal but I was able to upload the file (District2.doc, 102 KB) to freedrive.com ("My Files"). Perhaps if you have a moment you can take a glance at it and see what I have done.

I can't seem to figure out how to open the files in the freedrive.com files--although I do recall seeing somewhere something about a freedrive file manager.

So here I am, lost in space, yet again.

Disregard my "lost in space" email of a couple of days ago. I have managed to put Humpty Dumpty back together again.

I downloaded another copy of the District 2 webpage and made some additions and corrections and was able to upload it successfully from the computers in the Carbondale Library.

When something goes wrong when I am in front of a computer screen, I never know whether it's me or the computer that is/causes the problem. In this recent case, I kinda think it was the computer.

I may not know much, but I am stubborn and I do have quite a lot of patience.

Thanks for being there and for hearing/receiving my call for help.

Hi Robert,

Long time no see. Things are kind of up in the air over the trip this weekend; we've been a little disorganized, what with holidays and everything. Ginger tells me you've been calling her but she's been missing the calls; there are apparently few tickets available; and she didn't know if Bev had bought them or not. The upshot of this is that even assuming she has bought tickets, I may not go. I haven't gotten my ticket yet, and from what Ginger says there aren't enough to go around at this point. Not surprising, considering the time of year. I'd been wondering about that earlier this week. There may be a bus leaving from my area, but I don't know.

This may be just as well from my point of view, as my house looks as though a tornado came through, followed by a herd of elephants. We've been falling behind, and now there are packages lying around that have to be dealt with. Wrapped, sorted, etc. What I really need is to take the rest of December off and get a dumpster placed outside and start heaving stuff out the windows into it.

Autumn sucks. Maybe it's the darkness or the weather, but I always seem to be playing catch-up with my life this time of year. Jeff's schedule doesn't help any; it's really impossible to plan when we don't know what days he'll have off. What a pain.

In case this trip doesn't work out as we'd like, we should definitely schedule a holiday-celebration lunch in the next couple weeks (not the 15th and not during Xmas/Kwanzaa week, as I'll be off and may not be around). We should also start planning the next trip, to take place in a less hectic month.

I hope I'll get to see you before the holidays come around, one way or another.

Cheers,

Beth

Friday afternoon

Beth:

Yes, December is difficult.

I can never be sure whether it's because of "diminished capacity" or because I'm trying to accomplish too much (historical society, national poultry activities, cattle, library, etc.) but I am always desperately trying to find more time.

Tomorrow, instead of joining Ginger & Co. when the bus arrives in New York, I think I will just stay on the bus and sleep (away from the phone and from all possible interruptions) until it comes time to return home. On the return trip to Pennsylvania from New York, I will, like everyone else on the bus, sleep.

In the event my brother asks me how the trip was, I will just create some elaborate lie and he'll be none the wiser.

Yes, let's give it our best to have a lunch get-together before the end-of-the-year hysteria gets too acute.

Robert

Mayor won't have to fear challenge to unveiling of official portrait

BY MICHAEL SADOWSKI / REGIONAL STAFF WRITER

Carbondale Mayor John "Jigger" Jordan spent the time after his election looking over his shoulder.

Shrouded with courtroom threats from his closest competitor, Joseph Varella, and the uncertainty of a new city council, the first few months after the November 1999 election weren't the easiest of times for the current mayor.

But with that out of the way, Mayor Jordan has seen better days, and for his efforts, he is about to be rewarded as many other Carbondale mayors have been.

On Sunday, Mayor Jordan's portrait will be one of three added to the collection of mayoral pictures on the wall of the City Council Chambers on the second floor of City Hall.

The official unveiling ceremony will take place Sunday at 2 p.m., though the pictures have been on the wall all this week.

"It's an honor to have my picture up there with all the others," said Mayor Jordan. "It's something my kids will see, and their kids will see for a long time. I'm very proud."

Also being added to the pic-

'It's an honor to have my picture up there with all the others. It's something my kids will see, and their kids will see for a long time.'

John Jordan
Carbondale mayor

tures are two 19th Century Carbondale mayors, William Brennan (1865-66) and Thomas Voyle (1867-69, 73-74, 82-83).

Mayor Jordan's picture is the only one of the new additions that is done by photography.

The other two black-and-white portraits are original compositions drawn by Alice Stolle of Carbondale.

Ms. Stolle recreated the portraits from images found in local history books.

The Carbondale Historical Society has consistently placed three portraits on the wall each fall and spring for three years. This total brings the number of mayors on display to 28, 15 short of the 41 mayors the city has had. At the rate the historical society is moving, the process should be completed by spring 2003.

The society has run through all of the mayors it has pictures of, and now must hunt through local lore to find the remaining images.

The society has started plans for the spring 2001 unveiling, but only has one definite portrait. Mayor William Morrison (1874-75) will be one of the pictures for sure, because the society already has his portrait.

The society also may have clues to the whereabouts of a picture of A. F. Fey (1928-32). He is one of three city mayors from the 20th Century the society is still tracking, along with James B. Murrin (1912-16) and John T. Loftus (1916-24).

Though some paintings have been recreated through newspaper photos, the society first looks for pictures from family members. If anyone can assist in this endeavor, call the Carbondale Historical Society at 282-0385.

Dear Mr. Powell,

I wanted to acknowledge your letter of December 6. It is true that one of the fountains formerly located in Carbondale is not located on property at Camp Archbald. However, we were not actually trying to find a home for the fountain. It was formerly the site of one of our day camps, but the area has not been used for some time. There was some interest by Girl Scouts in clearing the area and restoring the fountain. No progress has been made on that project as yet.

We were approached by the Montrose Historical Society with a request that we donate the fountain to them. The Property Committee at that time noted that should we choose to give or sell the fountain, we would need to contact Carbondale first to see if they wanted it.

At this time, no decision has been made to remove the fountain. I will present your letter to the Property Committee at their next meeting, which will be in late January. While they may make a recommendation, a decision would need to come from the Board of Directors. One concern would certainly be the possible environmental impact of removal and restoring the area to its original condition.

Sincerely,

Hi Robert,

Great news about the "Today" show! First Martha Stewart, and now this! Unfortunately, I wasn't able to catch your appearance because I'm on the train to work at that time. So how did it go? Did the live props behave themselves?

Is Armytage a friend of yours? Actually, I just did a search for "Extraordinary Chickens" on amazon.com and read a customer review: "A must for anyone who knows chickens!" The chicken on the cover is really cute.

I agree...not bad for a chicken farmer from the hills of Pennsylvania!

How's everything else going?

Things are fine here. I got an interesting call a few weeks ago from a reporter who used to work in our office. She took a job with Reuters, one of our competitors (also in Chicago), a few months ago and called to say there was an opening there for a copy editor. I said I wasn't interested at first because I've been happy at Bridge, but then she told me that editors there make about $25K more than at Bridge(!).

Needless to say, I sent along my resume. The job won't be filled until after the first of the year, so by that time I'll have been here for a year and a half. I'll just have to wait and see, I guess.

How's life on Editors' Row? Geez, it seems as if a bunch of people have left since I was there. I haven't talked to Cheryl in a while...is she still "developing products"? What about Ginger, Bev, Sheila, Paul? I'm assuming the Dean is still there, walking the halls with yellow Post-its in hand.

Well, time to head to lunch. (Coincidentally, I brought a chicken salad sandwich.)

Nice talking to you, Robert.

Kelly

one of the "quality" people with whom I worked at ICS.

Glad you were able to see the Today show segment on exhibition poultry. My role in the whole thing was secondary. It was good for exhibition poultry and that's the important thing.

There are many additional comments on the Today show experience on the APA District 2 webpage which can be easily accessed by going to the homepage of the American Poultry Association (www.amptya.com) and clicking on "Directors." There, under my name you will see a webaddress. Click on that address and the District 2 webpage should appear before you. (The District 2 webpage was created and launched with the help of Paul Warner.)

The big neck from this neck of the woods is that I have quit my job at ICS.

On a sunny Thursday afternoon in April, having just returned from a walk around the building, I decided that I would quit my job. I went over and told Mike that I was going to quit.

Why, he asked. "Working for other is too time consuming," I replied.

"To be effective when?," he asked. "Tomorrow," said I.

And that was that. It's the smartest thing I've done in 10 years.

I absolutely love not working for others--and I feel more energized than I have in decades.

I'm getting a lot done. Exclusively things that mean a lot to me (the local historical society, of which I'm president; community service organizations; poultry matters; my Hereford cattle; gardens).

Lots of changes at ICS. Cheryl and Marie have also left the hallowed halls of 925 Oak Street.

Any news on the Reuters possibility?

Ginger, Bev, Beth, and I, along with Ginger's sister Annemarie, have made several day trips to New York in recent months. Very enjoyable. I had them all out to my place for a Summer Solstice picnic/hike in June. We had a grand time.

Merry Christmas.

Mr. S. Robert Powell
Carbondale Historical Society

Dear Robert:

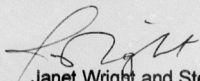

My husband and I were delighted with the family history information we were able to find on our short visit to Carbondale yesterday, and I was even more excited about the resources you told me about on the phone this morning.

My grandfather Beddoe Joseph Williams grew up in Carbondale, but only fragments of his history have survived in the family, and until recently I had very little hope of getting information about such a common family name (I am originally a Williams too). I now have excellent leads that take me back to his grandparents John P. Williams of Fell Township and Joseph Cogan of Carbondale City, and we are finding the historical context of the Carbondale region fascinating.

I told my husband your comment about your Society being impoverished but impassioned, and he said "Imagine where we'd be if they hadn't done all that work." We're too far away to do much on a volunteer basis, but we would like to contribute to your very valuable efforts, so please accept the enclosed donation for the Society.

I will be back in touch with you after New Year's for another visit to Carbondale. I am looking forward to it very much indeed.

Sincerely,

Janet Wright and Steve Gourley

Dear Janet and Steve:

Thank you for your generous donation to the Carbondale Historical Society.

During your next visit to Carbondale, I will be able to show you a photograph of the Williams barn, in its original location, in Fell Township. As it turns out, my mother (Helen Loomis Russell) went to a one-room school across the road from the Williams property in Fell Township. One day, probably during recess, the kids all lined up in front of the barn and had their picture taken. We have the photo in the family album.

Later, my grandfather (William Anderson Russell) bought the Williams barn and had it moved to the Russell Homestead, where my brother and I now live. The barn no longer stands but we have lots of photographs of the Williams barn after it was moved to our place.

If, about a week before your arrival here for another visit, you were to to send me a list of some of the things you are hoping to find, I'll do my best to provide some answers for you.

Sincerely,

S. Robert Powell

Hi Robert,

Wow...big news about your leaving ICS. I was kind of surprised, but I know what you mean about not enjoying working for others and having to adhere to an employer's schedule. Being able to spend your time doing the things you love sounds wonderful. I'm sure everyone at ICS misses you a lot.

If I had enough money in the bank, I'd be considering a similar move myself. Alas, I'm still at Bridge and am still waiting to hear from Reuters. The bureau chief said he'd make his decision after the first of the year, so I have to wait a bit longer.

I just returned from visiting my parents in Wilkes-Barre for a few days. Because I won't be able to get the time off at Christmas, we celebrated early.

Unfortunately, I returned to bitter cold temperatures in Chicago, with more snow on the way. Is it spring yet?

Hope you have a great holiday.

Dear Family, Friends
And Neighbors... Old and New,

The year 2000 has been very good to us;
we had a great trip during the summer months and our other activities have kept us very busy. But, that is the way we like it.

To summarize the trip in our mini-motor home: we were on the road 89 days, 12,000 miles, 26 states and Canada. We saw sections of this vast country that neither of us had visited before ... in short, a fantastic experience.

Our most memorable event was the reunion in Iowa of descendants of Thomas Curtis, a brother of Gordon's immigrant ancestor who came originally to Gilbertsville, NY in the early 1800s. Getting personally acquainted with members of this distant family was very special.

Then in Nevada we attended the Griswold Western Heritage Tour, arranged by another of Gordon's "ancestor" societies. Among other events, we were treated to a buffalo roast on a ranch of one million acres operated by two Griswold brothers and we actually walked part of the old California
Trail over which many of our forbears trekked west.

Our New York State stay was short this year, but it included a week in Connecticut where we made preliminary arrangements for a reunion that we will be chairing in 2001. And of course, we stopped on our way home to visit Dick, Terri and the three grandchildren in Myrtle Beach.

We are both well, and as you can see, enjoying retirement life to the fullest. Our best wishes go out to you all for a beautiful holiday season and a great year ahead.

With love and best wishes,

Dear Family and Friends,

December, 2000

Merry Christmas! It has been a very fun and exciting year for me. I have experienced so much in my 9 months of existence, and I thought I'd tell you all about it.

In May I learned how to hold my head up and how to grab things. I grabbed the plastic rings on my bouncy seat, but I outgrew that long ago. Since May, I have been grabbing other things as well – if you hold me, you'll see that I can also grab hair, jewelry, eyeglasses, etc.! In June I learned how to turn over. This has been a particularly useful skill, because it enables me to sink away from that torture ritual that Mommy and Daddy call a diaper change. In July I learned how to put a pacifier in my mouth all by myself – but not just a pacifier can I put in my mouth – I can put so many things in my mouth. Everything is so delicious: books, toys, magazines, compact discs, fingers, they all taste great! The only thing that I don't care for the taste of is baby food. Every day since August they try to get to me to eat that blasted stuff, and I keep telling them that I don't like it, but they just don't seem to get the message. Why would anyone want baby food if they could have a nice warm bottle?

In late July/early August I started to get more hair. It's still just fuzz, but it's so much more than what it was. And of course my hair is blonde – I have dark blonde hair and blue eyes, just like my Daddy. (I don't look a lick like my Mommy, but Daddy sure is happy that I look like he does!) On August 17, I sat without help for the first time. On Labor Day weekend I started trying to crawl, and at first I kind of "hobble-crawled," without much coordination, but by the end of September, I was a pro! September is also the month that I learned to sit up, from lying down to sitting position – I did that in my bath tub on September 17. And it's the month that I learned to stand up (I did it for the first time on September 19), and now I can walk a few steps if I hold on to furniture or a wall!!! In October I discovered a new food: Cheerios. Now I sit in my high chair and eat Cheerios and drink my sippy cup of water while Mommy and Daddy eat dinner.

I get compliments on my dexterity all the time. Why, I can pull all the napkins out of the napkin basket and all the C.D.'s out of the C.D. holder, not to mention that I can rip pages out of my Mommy's magazines. I used to be very good at opening the Kitchen Cabinet doors, but for some reason, I can't seem to open them anymore. Oh, and my latest skill – on my 9 month birthday, on November 4th, I climbed the stairs for the first time. Life is grand!

Happy Holidays! From your pal,

Alina Grace

You're welcome.

As a host for our Web sites, NBCi doesn't seem to be much of an alternative to Crosswinds, even with Crosswinds' pesky pop-ups.

Regarding those pop-ups, it seems that framed sites (like my Word & PC Tips site) don't generate pop-ups. Apparently, the site or page has to be frameless for the javascript to kick in. I suspect it's just a matter of time, however, before the Crosswinds programmers catch on and plug up that loophole. But, if you want, I can redesign your site and set it up with frames in an effort to elude the pop-ups at least for right now. Let me know.

Also, Crosswinds is apparently offering their members a loophole of their own. If a member pledges a minimum of $10, Crosswinds promises to remove the java (pop-ups) from that member's site. If you're interested, go to <http://home.crosswinds.net/pledge/>. Be aware, though, that a donation may buy only a temporary reprieve from these Crosswinds cyber woes. I still think the Crosswinds are blowing toward oblivion.

Meanwhile, make sure you have a current backup copy of your stuff.

I'm still working on getting your other chicken pictures online. I'll mail the artwork back to you when I'm finished scanning the pictures in.

I hope to identify at least one stable alternative to Crosswinds by the end of January.

Keep the faith, have a happy, and if you go out in that wind, wear a hat.

Given my remarkable capacity for backing myself into cyberswamps, I am always very relieved to learn that at least some of the "problems" that come my way when I sit down to a computer are not caused by me.

Thank you for the explanation of the pop-up stuff on the Crosswinds site. Thanks, as well, for bouncing back to me the attachment on "faking at poultry shows" in that recent e-mail that I received from a fellow poultry judge on the west coast.

I've had just about enough of this cold weather. The other morning when I went out to feed the cows at 7 A.M. it was 8 below zero and there was a pretty good wind. The cows, remarkably, are completely unaffected by the cold.

Thanks again for the cyberhelp.

Robert

Hello.

That thing is a pop-up ad that Crosswinds is now forcing on the pages they host. Did you ever wonder how Crosswinds could afford to host thousands and thousands of Web sites without charging money and without requiring their members to display ads? Well, the answer is, they apparently can't.

But don't be too hard on Crosswinds. They've apologized profusely for being forced to require us to display advertisements, and they're trying to make this a temporary solution to their fiscal woes. By the way, my other pick for a free Web host (Spree.com -- who always required their members to carry ads) recently went bankrupt! Crosswinds is now fighting to stay alive. That's why we have those annoying popups now.

Meanwhile, I'm actively looking for one or more alternative hosts for our Web sites. Crosswinds, alas, may not make it through the new year. I'll check out NBCi first, and I'll keep you posted with any new info.

Nephew Don:

Clean up your act.

Be nice to people.

Remember to say "please" and "thank you."

Be nice to animals--and your uncles.

Try not to be a slob.

Make your bed.

Eat your vegetables.

Remember to change your socks and underwear at least once a month--whether you need to or not.

Sit up straight and don't slouch, especially when eating.

When eating, move the food to your mouth and not your mouth to the food.

Try not to pick your nose at the table.

Remember that farting is not an intercollegiate sport and that trophies are rarely given for farting.

Best regards,

Dear Members:

Thank you for renewing your membership in—or for becoming a member of—the Carbondale Historical Society and Museum for 2001. Your membership card is enclosed. We very much appreciate your support through membership.

SOME RECENT HISTORICAL SOCIETY ACCOMPLISHMENTS / EVENTS

In ceremonies sponsored by the Historical Society, three additional portraits of mayors of Carbondale were unveiled in City Council Chambers on Sunday afternoon, November 19. The three mayors whose portraits were unveiled are: William Brennan (1865-1866), Thomas Voyle (1867-1869, 1873-1874, 1882-1883), and John Jordan (2000—present). The portraits of Mayors Brennan and Voyle are original compositions by Alice Stolle, Carbondale. The master of ceremonies was S. Robert Powell. Mr. and Mrs. Myron Hellman and Gloria Wilson presided at the refreshment table.

These portraits will become a part of the permanent exhibition of mayors' portraits in Council Chambers. The exhibition curator is Joseph Pascoe, the treasurer of the Historical Society. Portraits of 28 of Carbondale's mayors are now on display in Council Chambers, including a photographic reproduction of an oil painting by J. W. Raught of the city's first mayor, James Archbald. This painting is an oil on canvas that was copied by Raught from a painting by Elliott, dated 1845. The Raught painting of James Archbald was presented to the city of Carbondale by James Archbald's daughter, Mary Wodrow Archbald Catlin.

On Sunday, December 10, the Seventeenth Annual Carbondale Christmas Concert by the Crystal Band took place in the Berean Baptist Church, Carbondale. This annual concert is sponsored by the Historical Society and the Berean Baptist Church as a Christmas gift to the community as a whole. Refreshments were served following the concert. As always, the concert was a joyful and inspiring event. This year's concert was under the direction of Thomas Frew.

On December 13th, the Society's annual Christmas Dinner took place at Pettinato's Restaurant, Carbondale. Fifty members and friends attended the event, which was, in every respect, a complete success. Society member Paul Starzer offered the invocation at the beginning of the evening.

In the course of the dinner meeting, "Distinguished Achievement Awards in Historical Preservation" were presented to Mr. and Mrs. Edward Davis (Tiffany/Davis House, 40 Washington Street), Mr. and Mrs. Charles Carroll (Burke/Carroll House, 65 Seventh Avenue), and Pleasant Mount Welding, Inc., 45 Dundaff Street (PMWI was represented at the dinner by Messrs. Ed Turano and Chris Duquette). Following the presentation of awards, S. Robert Powell showed about a hundred slides of post-card views of Carbondale from the nineteenth and twentieth centuries. Many members and friends were heard to say that this year's annual Christmas dinner meeting was very special and most enjoyable.

On New Years's Eve, members of the Society participated in the kick-off ceremonies at City Hall to commemorate the sesquicentennial of the city of Carbondale's incorporation on March 15, 1851.

COMING ATTRACTIONS / EVENTS

All year long, there will be special ceremonies and events—at least one per month—to commemorate the city's 150th birthday. On February 18, at 3 P.M., at the Berean Baptist Church, there will be a special historical program, under the direction of the Historical Society and the Carbondale Ministerium. Hymn singing by the congregation will be an integral component of this program.

On March 15, at 9:30 A.M. in the auditorium at Carbondale Area High School, Charter Day Ceremonies will be conducted under the direction of the Historical Society. Students from the school and the CAHS chorus and band, as well as Mayor Jordan and other local and area elected officials, will participate in these ceremonies.

GET INVOLVED

The next meeting of the Society will take place on Thursday, February 15, 2001, in the Society's exhibition gallery in 301 City Hall. The meeting, which is the quarterly meeting for the first quarter of 2001, will begin at 7 P.M. and is expected to last no more than one hour. We are anxious to have your input as to present and future plans for the Historical Society. The meeting is open to the public. Come to the meeting. Bring a friend with you.

Sincerely,

A handwritten signature in cursive script that reads "S. Robert Powell". The signature is written in dark ink and is positioned above the printed name and title.

Hi.

Happy New Year.

Well, it's that time of year again. Ginger's 39th birthday is right around the corner (Jan. 11th). We will be going out to lunch to celebrate on Thursday. I don't know where we're going but it will either be for Chinese or to Gerrity's.

I hope you are free and can join us. We are all needing our "Robert fix", and we can talk about our next journey to NYC.

I thoroughly enjoyed my grandchildren over the christmas holiday and I can say we had one of the nicest holidays, ever. I hope you had a wonderful Christmas holiday, as well.

The powers that be are lurking so I best send this off.

Looking forward to seeing you on Thursday.

ADVENT 2000

Advent season was once again a busy time here at Berean Baptist. Thank you to all who participated.

On December 2nd, we had the Hanging of the Greens followed by coffee and dessert. Then on Sunday, December 3rd, the final touches were placed in the sanctuary. Different members of the congregation present these items, while an explanation of why we use them was read.

Carbondale Historical Society sponsored a concert by the Crystal Band on December 10th in our sanctuary. If you have not heard this band in our sanctuary, you have missed a wonderful treat. A reception was held after the concert.

Candlelight Service

Christmas Eve Service was held at 10:00 P.M. with a carols and lessons service and the lighting of the Advent wreath and Christ Candle. The service ended with a congregational candle-lighting as the carol "Silent Night" was played.

The second Saturday of Advent was a special day of excitement in our church fellowship hall. The Santa Shop was open for any youngsters wanted to find gifts for their family and friends. The teenage Sunday School Class was in charge of this project. We also had a "Birthday Party for Jesus." Our thanks to Rev. Richard Thomas who present a program to the young people. We would like to thank Myrtle Oakley, Doris Williams, Mary Schermerhorn and the Sunday School teachers for all of their help. Edie Seigle, Chairperson of the Christian Education Committee was in charge.

We would like to thank the Spiritual, Christian Education, General Business Committees, and the Pepper family for lighting the Advent wreath during the Christmas season.

Sesquicentennial Celebration Continues

The 150th anniversary of the signing of the charter that brought into existence the city of Carbondale will be commemorated all year long with at least one special event per month.

These celebrations began on New Year's Eve's when the Carbondale Business Association, the city of Carbondale, the Carbondale Historical Society, and the Lackawanna Heritage Valley Authority welcomed in the city's sesquicentennial year with celebrations at City Hall and in the downtown area. These New Year's Eve sesquicentennial celebrations were under the direction of Paul and Teresa Browne.

At that time, a light show by Effects Unlimited was projected on City Hall and in Memorial Park. Marissa Famularo and Kathleen Marzzacco opened the evening's program by singing the "Star Spangled Banner." Mayor John Jordan, Bernadette Lepre, and Dr. S. Robert Powell offered remarks appropriate to the occasion from the speakers' platform on the balcony of City Hall. DJ Mike Critchley presented a musical tribute on the occasion and a sesquicentennial fireworks display took place. Cookies, hot chocolate and coffee were provided by the Ben Mar and Zazzera's market.

These sesquicentennial celebrations will continue in February with a musical and historical program on Sunday afternoon, February 18, in the main sanctuary of the Berean Baptist Church, North Church Street and Lincoln Avenue. The Rev. Dale Pepper of the Berean Baptist Church, and Dr. S. Robert Powell, president of the Historical Society, will be in charge of the program, which will begin at 3 P.M.

The choirs of the First Presbyterian Church (Pam Hudson, director), the Trinity Episcopal Church (Dawn Pentecost, director), the First United Methodist Church (Maria Collura), Saint Rose of Lima Church (Doreen Coleman, director), Berean Baptist Church (Gloria Seigle, director), Marian Community Hospital (Barbara Arabio, director), and the New Life Assembly of God, among others, will participate in this program.

A six-part history of Carbondale, written by Dr. Powell, will be read by representatives of the youth groups of each of the participating churches and organizations. These readings will alternate with the musical offerings of the participating choirs. There will also be congregational singing of traditional and patriotic hymns by the entire assembly. Refreshments will be served following the program.

The public is cordially invited to attend this musical and historical program. For additional information, contact Rev. Pepper at 282-6309.
